Chairman's Report

A gathering of current and past Board Chairmen Back: David Eddington, Richard Pringle-Jones, John Clennett, Kerry Bowerman, Guy Ellis Front: Ken Downie, Bill Toppin (Principal), Harvey Gibson, Barrie Irons (Deputy Principal), Andrew Kemp

I am very pleased to be able to report that 2001 has been another very successful year for Hutchins. In the face of demographic trends to the contrary, school numbers have increased during the year to peak at approximately 1,000. The new SES Funding system, which is being phased in over a 4-year period, will be beneficial to Hutchins and with the recent election result we should have some stability of funding parameters into the future.

As a Board we are continually being challenged by the Principal with his vision for improved school facilities. The recently approved capital expenditure budget for 2002 includes the following projects: Stage 2 of the Nettlefold Library redevelopment, fitting out two additional classrooms in the Early Learning Centre to cater for increasing numbers, further dormitory renovations at the Boarding House and refurbishing senior art facilities. In addition we are exploring the feasibility of a new Music School/Multimedia complex and rearranging the Junior School and the Centre for Excellence.

It remains a fact, however, that no matter how good our physical resources are, the School would not be what it is without our number one resource, all the staff. On behalf of the Board I wish to thank them for their efforts in 2001. Their commitment to the boys and their education is much appreciated by all.

The Board continues with its commitment to providing a rounded and beneficial education to all boys no matter what their abilities are or what their cultural, social or ethnic backgrounds may be. We consider that the essential elements of a Hutchins education should have a wide focus addressing academic, sporting, social, musical, dramatic and vocational pursuits. It is pleasing to note that our monitoring of academic results over the last four years for Year 12 indicates an improvement each year in the overall results.

Challenges in respect of the strategic direction for Hutchins remain a focus for the Board. We have to remain mindful of emerging trends such as globalization, the blurring of the distinctions between Secondary and post Secondary education, and the Internet and its potential in education.

Strategic alliances have been established during the year, which have already been successful in boosting enrolments, namely an alliance with other Tasmanian independent schools to access the Chinese market.

We propose to devote additional resources in 2002 to the pursuit of further strategic alliances which can benefit Hutchins either by increasing revenue, reducing costs or providing access to resources which the School could not otherwise access.

In conclusion, I would also like to like to thank all Board members who have given so much of their time throughout the year.

Harvey Gibson
Chairman
Board of Management

2001 has been a year not without drama. On the international scene, the destruction of the World Trade Centre resulted in changes regarding how we look and think about our place in the world. It was a very significant event in the life of the Western World. At the time of writing, the travel industry and stock market are still to recover to their pre-September 11 days. The optimism in Australia generated by the Sydney Olympic Games of 2000 has left us, to be replaced by uncertainty. We sit and wait to see what will happen next on the international scene.

Hutchins Cheer Squad

It is a curious phenomenon that despite the world shrinking to the point where any corner of the globe is quickly accessible, internet access has meant that people are contactable anywhere by satellite phone and knowledge is available on the internet anywhere, we seem to have made no progress as a race in our ability to get on with each other. Conflict on a tribal, religious and ethnic scale seems to have replaced wars between nations.

Nationally, the return of the Coalition Government meant that funding for the next term of government is secure. Much had been made of the new funding arrangements for private schools and particularly for the old Category One Schools. Hutchins benefited under the new arrangement: we believe this is evidence that the School, relative to other independent schools, was not receiving grants to a level that reflected its need.

Despite demographic trends that show the pool of school-aged children is shrinking, Hutchins numbers increased from 965 at the start of the year to 1003. This increase in students has allowed us to undertake a far more extensive capital improvement program over the Christmas holidays than originally planned. The Nettlefold Library extensions will be completed, two new classrooms fitted out in the Early Learning Centre to cater for increased classes, and refurbishment of the senior Art area are the major projects. I look forward to the planning process which will occur in 2002 for the Junior School/Music/Centre for Excellence Complex.

W D Toppin

Elizabeth McQuilkin

As a humble person, no doubt Liz McQuilkin would prefer we invoked the declaration of the great writer, George Eliot, that the happiest women, like the happiest nations, have no history. However, when it comes to Liz McQuilkin and Hutchins there is plenty of history and all of it happy and well worth remembering. Sadly, however, it comes to an end this year.

Liz has taught a range of students from Year 4 to first year university across the globe including New Guinea (as an Australian Volunteer Abroad), England, Victoria and, of course, Tasmania.

Liz left the workforce for thirteen years in order to raise her three children with her husband, Rob, and during that time did some work in theatre. She returned to teach English at Collegiate in 1983. She was appointed Head of English from 1986 to 1988 and also took on the position of Coordinator of Debating and Public Speaking. She left Collegiate at the end of 1988 to spend more time with her family and return to University for post-graduate study.

During this time Liz was invited to teach part-time at Hutchins. By the end of the year she was invited by John Bednall to be Acting Head of English, a position she held for three years while Alan Pride set up the Philosophy and Ethics program. Liz was again appointed Head of English for a year and a half after Dr Pride moved to Sydney and before Bradley Wells was appointed.

Liz's time at Hutchins will be remembered for many things. Her enormous contributions to debating, public speaking and all things literary were reflected in her coordination of the Hutchins Literary and Debating Society and founding of the Poetry and Prose in Performance Competitions. Undoubtedly though, her greatest contribution has been in the classroom. Her personal love of learning, academic rigour, meticulous professionalism and individual care for each student has endeared her to Hutchins boys and made her a vital member of the Hutchins community.

So as we say farewell we can do little better than quote from The Bard himself, when Henry V to his loyal troops declared: On, on you noblest English (teachers).

So, Liz, farewell and thanks for all that you have done for the many boys and staff who have passed through Hutchins.

Brad Wells

Head of English

Pat McNeill

Pat McNeill has been at Hutchins for a long time. Her many memories of those 28 and a half years give a snapshot of life at Hutchins. She was recruited by John Anderson in 1973, in his first year as Junior School Headmaster, when the Kindergarten needed an assistant with growing enrolments.

An interest in library studies had been put on hold with the commencement of part-time work, but with the TAFE Library Technician's course becoming available, she was able to fit this in with her working hours at Hutchins and some time was spent in one or other of the libraries from then on, as well as in the Prep School classes. She completed the Certificate in 1981. In 1984 she was appointed full time with extra time spent in the Senior Library, where she learned a lot from Rossi Roberts-Thompson, who had had many years' experience as a teacher librarian.

In 1988, Pat finally began work full-time in the A A Stephens Library, as it became known. Given a choice she decided on this library (rather than the Nettlefold) because of her wish to continue her affinity with the boys in that area, given her ongoing hockey coaching with the upper primary boys over many years. This involved matches on Saturday mornings as well as training in sport periods at school from Easter until the end of second term.

Throughout her years at Hutchins Pat has always had a passion for preparing materials for displays and mounting them with great care. In the Stephens Library, displays have been a highlight of her work, although in recent years she has often had to resort to using previously used materials because of time constraints. However she says her one-to-one involvement with the boys gives her most satisfaction, and in some cases being a confidante over long periods for boys with real worries or just things to talk over.

Pat's contribution to the School and to the libraries in particular is enormous. She has been an anchor for the teacher librarians, and ably organised teams of mothers who come in to help reinforce, mend and cover books at school or at home. Pat has been involved in staff meetings and social gatherings through the years as well as taking part in the Staff Association, being a strong advocate for the rights of the non-teaching staff.

We wish Pat a fruitful and happy retirement with Barry, their girls and grandchildren.

Derek Woolley

Mr Derek Woolley retired this year after twelve and a half years at Hutchins. He came to Hutchins in June 1988 as a teacher of Year 6, bringing with him a wealth of experience in primary education with particular skills in the teaching of mathematics. During his years at Hutchins he oversaw the development of a solid mathematics curriculum with a problem-solving base. He was involved in remedial work and extension activities with boys across the Junior School.

Derek had a special gift as a teacher and ran many Professional Development sessions both for staff at Hutchins and for staff in other independent and Catholic sector schools. He was a regular presenter at Maths Conferences and lectured in various aspects of mathematics teaching for the University's BEd programme and for those doing post-graduate work.

His interest and expertise in Mathematics continue to influence the delivery of Mathematics at Hutchins. He authored 10 teacher reference/resource books which will continue to form part of the curriculum for years to come.

Derek was for a time Junior School Sportsmaster and was also a Senior Teacher and Assistant to the Head of Junior School. At the time of his retirement Derek was the Head of Junior School and even though he was reluctant to take on this position he filled it with dignity. He had the ability to bring out the best in others through his quiet (but extremely well-organised) style of leadership. He wouldn't ask anyone to do something he wouldn't do himself.

It was early in Term 3 2000 that he suffered heart problems requiring major surgery. Following a period of recuperation he decided to retire from teaching and moved to the Gold Coast to live, to enjoy the sun, the surf and the lifestyle. While health concerns still exist he continues to play bowls and plans to spend more time painting, being an accomplished water-colour painter. One of his works hangs in the entrance to the Junior School. He is even dabbling in the share market and is prepared to try his hand at anything that comes along.

While his influence around the school is missed, all wish him well in his future endeavours.

Dean Docking

Assistant to the Head of Junior School

Tony Herbert

Tony Herbert grew up in Adelaide and trained at the Adelaide Teachers' College. He started teaching at the age of 19 with the South Australian Education Department in 1955, first as an assistant at Penola in the south-east of South Australia, then at Woomera in the far north, followed by Parndana on Kangaroo Island. After this wide-ranging view of life in South Australia, he was then appointed Head Teacher of a three-teacher school near Pinnaroo on the border with Victoria. In 1960 he joined Kings College (now Pembroke School), an independent school in Adelaide, where he taught for six years.

In 1966 he moved to New South Wales to take up an appointment as Master-in-Charge of the Junior School at Wolaroi

College in Orange. He later became Senior House Master and Acting Deputy Headmaster of Wolaroi College. When Wolaroi and PLC combined schools, he was appointed Master-in-Charge of the Junior School and Housemaster of a mixed-sex primary boarding house at Kinross Wolaroi School.

In 1979 Tony joined The Hutchins School as a Junior School teacher where he was renowned for his extensive general knowledge and for his ability to come up with the most amazing trivia in order to catch his students' interest. Together with his wife, Ailsa, he formed the Junior School Boarding House in the former Headmaster's House at 99 Nelson Road and ran it for three years. He has held a number of positions at Hutchins such as President of the Staff Association, Secretary/Treasurer of the Staff Association, Secretary of the Headmaster's Education Committee and various sporting positions, including acting as Sports Master of the Junior School. Since transferring to the Senior School, Tony's main sporting commitment has been with squash, to which he has devoted much time and energy.

Tony himself has wide sporting interests having played cricket, tennis and Australian Rules football at school. He represented the South Australian Teachers' Colleges in tennis, basketball and athletics, and played lacrosse for South Australia. He also represented Kings Old Scholars at Australian Rules football and cricket, and in later years played competitive basketball, football, tennis, table tennis and golf. Among his other interests is photography, for which he had the honour of being the first Australian to have work accepted at an international level in a Communist country after the Second World War.

Since 1997 Tony has been working in the Senior School as a Resource Teacher based in the Nettlefold Library, teaching history to Year 9, and having responsibility for all audiovisual requirements within the whole school. He has used his expertise with internet sites to provide resource materials for other staff on request and also to select sites for listing on the school's intranet. His knowledge and abilities in this field will be sorely missed but we wish him well in his retirement.

Rosalyn Behrens

Nettlefold Library

Naveed and I got to know each other at camp. We were interested in the same sort of movies and music. Naveed was friendly and never got angry. We became friends and he started to play handball with us at lunch. We also sat next to each other in class. We both loved sport and that's why we were mates

Naveed was one of those guys that did not care what other people thought about him. He was friends with everybody. I can't say I was a real close friend but I admired him for who he was. I mean, there I was stuffing up my life and he just died

Alistair

Nathan

Naveed was a very good miniature painter and he liked soccer

Ashley

Naveed was a good friend. He often lent me a pen. He was always very happy

Brad

Fun, tried hard at piano, and loved soccer

Aaron

I remember that Naveed was always helpful and caring. He was always thinking about his favourite sport - soccer. We always played handball and he was always the best. Naveed always had his Pokemon cards in his pocket so he could trade

Luke

When Naveed went on holiday to America the class didn't feel quite right, it was still a great class but it was missing something. That something was Naveed. When he got back it was all normal again. He was a kind and thoughtful person

Tyson

Naveed Mirkazemi

Tragically killed in a car accident
14 December 2000

Remembered Always

On first impressions, Naveed Mirkazemi seemed a shy, quiet-achiever type. Without doubt he was a quiet achiever but after a few weeks that early shyness began to ebb away and we saw a young man with loads of character. It is true that he had no enemies. His natural ability to make friends easily and provide help where needed endeared him to many. He will be sorely missed

Matthew Sayers

(Class Tutor)

At lunch Naveed, myself and some friends used to play tennis. He was very good. He was also a good friend. I will remember that he always talked about soccer

Stephen

Naveed was a good friend. When he walked in, the whole room seemed to light up. He was never without a smile. He was kind and compassionate, never nasty, always helping. We all miss him a lot

Chris

Naveed used to be generous and help me with my work

Scott

Naveed loved soccer. He would always go on about his favourite skivvies. You'd come to school on Monday morning with drooping eyes and he would be there wide-eyed and the first thing he would say was "Did you watch the soccer last night at 2:00am"

James C

If I could describe Naveed in one word then it would be - 'happy'. No-one could not like him

Erik

I remember that he was always trying to do lots of work and that he would often lend people pens

James P

The Advantages of Being a Boy

THIS ESSAY WAS WRITTEN DURING THE LAST EXAMINATIONS AND ITS AUTHOR DID NOT INTEND IT FOR PUBLICATION - DECEMBER 1929.

Boys have many advantages over girls, the chief one being the thought that in after years they will be men, while girls will only be women.

Most boys despise girls because they are weak and gentle and not able to partake in their games because they are too rough; they may be hurt. Boys can always please themselves what they do and where they go, because they can take care of themselves. Girls have to be protected because of their fragility and lack of judgment of what is right or wrong.

A boy is able to take part in more sports than a girl, the reason being that men are more adapted for most sports than women, and therefore boys follow in their fathers' footsteps, while girls follow in their mothers'. In many cases girls have shown that they are not far inferior to boys, chiefly in swimming, where they are, perhaps more adapted than boys, through being of a lighter build and not being affected by the cold, owing to slight differences in construction.

At school, girls profess to have fun, but it is very pussy compared with that of a boys' school. The girls shriek and afterwards titter over their alleged jokes, which are generally rather feeble, while boys amuse themselves by subtle jokes. The greatest drawback girls have, in boys' sight, is that whenever they are in mixed company, they need chaperones. This is a great set back, and it handicaps boys very much socially.

However, the world would be a very dull place without girls, if it was in being at all, and we must thank our Maker for allowing us to be boys, but we must also thank Him for His thoughtfulness in making girls also.

64 years later, girls are still a major topic of conversation, however attitudes and thought processes have evolved. In the 1993 Virtus Editorial "Single Sex Schools" the editor, Geoff Whelan, wrote:

"I believe that the adults that emerge from Hutchins are not themselves being discriminated against through going to a single-sex school, but are instead advantaged as they have a greater level of respect for women".

I would like to thank all the Year 9s that helped in the Archives this year. There are too many to mention. I would like to thank Chris Hall, Pam Daly and Ann Reimer for their help and support throughout the last two years.

Parents' Association

The Hutchins Parents' Association has again made significant contributions to the School, which will benefit all boys at some stage of their school life.

At a time of financial pressures and constraints, our fundraising is sometimes a challenge. Due to decreasing numbers, the Eastern Shore Parent Group has closed but parents, grandparents and friends have continued to give so generously, be it time, energy or money. We thank everyone for their support.

The Central Parents' Group with Jenny Inglis at the helm has continued its support with events such as the lamington drive, which raised $430. The Fathers and Mothers day stalls together raised $1,550, and the cross country barbeque contributed $650 to the Association.

Jenny Inglis has been a loyal supporter and a tireless worker for the Parents' Association. Her abundant energy has been unwavering and she will be missed when she leaves the Association at the end of this year. Jenny has given an unselfish fifteen years to The Hutchins School and during that time has been co-ordinator for many fairs. I am sure she has activities to pursue now that her youngest child Jeremy will be leaving school this year. We wish Jenny all the best for the future and thank her for her admirable contribution.

Grandparents' Days - there are four held throughout the year for the Early Learning Centre, the Junior School, the Middle School and the Senior School - have proven to be a wonderful time for Grandparents to share their grandchild's life at Hutchins. On these happy days, the

Jenny Inglis rewarded for 15 yrs service

Association caters for morning or afternoon tea, which assists in our fundraising endeavours.

The fair was yet another wonderful twilight event with a tremendous result. Over $22,000 was achieved on this evening.

The mothers' dinner, held at Newlands House, was a most enjoyable evening with fine food and wine.

The two tuckshops are generating valuable income and, although managed by Spotless Catering, parent assistance is required to maintain the profits to the Association.

The Clothing Pool also provides regular contributions and I thank those people who work so hard to make this possible.

This year the Parents' Association has provided a bike rack for Burbury House, drinking fountains for the Junior School, music scores, scanner, glass cabinet for display purposes, sports notice board, video TV and trolley, multi media computer and a global positioning system for the sail training yacht, The Aurora. The final payment of $20,000 has been paid for the Middle/Junior School Tuckshop and the first payment of $25,000 has been paid for the Senior School Tuckshop to which $50,000 in total has been committed.

The Parents' Association meets on the third Wednesday of each month in the Driscoll Board Room at 8pm. These meetings are attended by the Principal and the Director of Development. Various members of our school community are invited to address the meetings, which are always interesting and informative. I invite all parents and friends of the school community to attend.

Again I sincerely thank all parents who supported the Parents' Association and the School in any capacity this year. Your input is greatly appreciated.

The Hutchins Foundation & The Hutchins Development Office

The Hutchins Foundation had a good fund-raising year with profitable events including the Annual Appeal, a Day at the Races, a cocktail party, sale of the popular Hutchins calendar and other souvenir goods.

The Annual Appeal raised over $40,000 and the money raised will assist in the refurbishment of the Terence Butler Auditorium by providing additional stage lighting equipment, stage draperies, sound systems and other facilities. Approximately sixty patrons attended a special afternoon tea to thank donors to the Appeal. The afternoon tea was held after the very popular ELC Nativity Play and Concert in the Auditorium.

“Minor” fundraising through small events and miscellaneous sales complement the major sources of revenue – bequests from Old Boys or other supporters of the school, the interest earned on investments and new cash gifts. Through these we have been able to offer the R A and R M Swan Memorial Prize, the G T Stilwell Memorial Prize and the J J Cowburn Memorial Prize.

Marketing has continued to be a major focus of the Development Office and as the school year ended with greater numbers of students than we had budgeted for, the Development Office and Foundation fund-raising roles tend to be irretrievably mixed. Hutchins continues to develop close links with the State Government’s Department of State Development, and the new consortium of TISOSS of which Hutchins is a founding member has been successful in attracting several boys to the school from Beijing and other areas of China. The school has also worked to develop new and existing markets in Thailand, Germany, Brazil, Hong Kong, Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and Korea. We are now starting to see the benefits of such marketing – not only are the school’s numbers increasing, but the broad range of international students attending Hutchins is of great benefit socially and educationally.

The broad range of international activities has been matched with local and interstate campaigns. The Hutchins Art Prize, now in its fifth year, attracted a record number of entries and the Finalists’ Exhibition in the Long Gallery at Salamanca Place was inspected by over 1700 guests. A combined concert with Collegiate at the Federation Hall was very successful in showcasing the talents of our many gifted musicians and the Jazz in the Quad evening continues to grow in popularity and style. We are indebted to Mr Andrew Legg for his links with the local music world, providing additional performers who work with our boys. Hutchins was present at Agfest and at the Campbell Town show, and press advertising locally and interstate has greatly assisted the school in its marketing campaign.

Our Old Boys have continued to be active. Of special interest was the biennial meeting of the 80 Club – when a score of our oldest Old Boys attended a Eucharist in the Chapel of St Thomas and toured the Early Learning Centre before joining other Old Boys for lunch in Burbury House. The Old Boys’ Reunion Dinner was a great evening with almost 200 Old Boys and their partners celebrating their joint history. Andrew Hood (1966 Leaver) was honoured for his work in Tasmania’s viticulture industry by being presented with The Iviad Tower Award.

Grandparents’ Days, the School Fair, special Archival displays, the Hutchins Golf Day, Open Day, the Webber Lecture, a Headmaster’s Seminar with Professor Miraca Gross, special concerts featuring the Cincinnati Strings and the Australian String Quartet, three editions of the school’s newsletter Magenta and Black and a host of other events make the school year a busy and interesting one – and one only possible through the hard work of the Development Office staff of Pam Daly, Ann Reimer, Andrew Short, Don Camm and Louise Young.

Senior Prefect

As the curtain closes on year 2001 we are able to look back on a fine year, both in the development of the Year 12 leavers and the growth of school spirit amongst all boys. Hutchins’ spirit is one thing that makes the School unique and it is something the Year 12s have always been very proud of. As a result, the prefect leaders made it a goal to instill this proud sense of tradition and spirit into all of the Hutchins boys. Individuals such as Patrick Durkin, the School Whip, led the way by arranging the transportation of students to school events to cheer and support their fellow Hutchins brothers. It is fine organization from senior boys like Patrick that helped to create the great sense of camaraderie felt by all boys this year, throughout the School.

Prefects are an integral part of school life at Hutchins. They are elected by their peers and by the staff. Their primary role, above all others, is to uphold the culture and tradition of Hutchins, while setting a good example for younger boys and the outside public. This year there were fifteen prefects inducted at the commencement of Term One, with another prefect being inducted during Anniversary Week. Each prefect was assigned a specific portfolio to carry out during the next year.

Diversity amongst the prefects in their talents, culture and abilities strengthened the prefect body as it enabled each area of school life to be represented uniquely and completely by senior students who feel passionately for their assigned portfolio.

This year’s prefects have embodied all that Hutchins is and represents. They have made many new inroads that are sure to be continued in years to come. The determination and drive of this year’s prefects has been the backbone behind the Year 12 students, as leadership at Hutchins is increasingly becoming student based. As we continue to move into the 21st Century students are being given more responsibility and input into the running of the School. There are many student-based committees that take an effective and active role in the School such as the Student Tribunal, where it is the students who decide on disciplinary matters concerning other boys.

It is important to remember that leadership is not only the responsibility of prefects – a school is only as strong as all its senior boys. 2001 was such a success because all boys participated and helped, and this initiative was taken, not only by the prefects, but also by the Year 12 group as a whole.

Student Representative Council

The SRC has had one of its best years yet. All involved have been extremely busy and there is a lot to show for their efforts. With developments in the Senior School Canteen and the proposed changes of the Senior School Quadrangle, the SRC has played a vital role in giving student feedback on suggested ideas. We've provided funding for the acquisition of new items around the School and for some boys to represent the School at various events. With the ongoing doorknocks, socials, activities, speakers' forums and many other curriculum matters the SRC has hopefully made Hutchins a better place. This year the Administrative Executive was guided by Ms Jodie Schafferius, and the Curriculum Executive was guided by Mr Peter Hodge.

Administrative Executive

Joel Bevin, President of the SRC, led the Administrative Executive.

The Socials Committee was led by David Webber and Matthew Drury. Their role was to organize, set up, supervise and clean up after each social held at Hutchins and provide supervision for socials at other schools. Organization was the key and thanks also to David Bell and his team for sound and light.

The Student Welfare Committee was led by Joseph Chan and Pat Sherwood. Their main role was to ensure general happiness amongst all levels of the school. Their main job was to help Mr Dear organize leadership camps for the year 7s and 8.

Hugh Griggs and Andrew Deane were responsible for leading the Publications Committee. They played a vital role this year by promoting all aspects of school life and any activities or socials. They also publish the SRC bulletin for the Senior School.

Community Service was led by John Cooper and Josh Crossin. They ensured that the student body participated in a number of community fundraisers and events. Some charity projects included Wuppy Week, Jeans for Genes Day, Barrack for MS and many other.

Curriculum Executive

Edward Webster, Vice-President of the SRC, led the Curriculum Executive:

Ben Groom and Richard Ellis led the Clubs and Societies Committee. Their main job was to organize the Clubs and Societies Day and to continually promote and maintain the operation of the various Clubs and Societies that exist within the School. This led to the publication of a brochure outlining all the various Clubs and Societies available to students.

The Activities Committee was led by Richard Wilkinson and Andrew Simmons. Three major activities organized this year were the Torporama, Three-on-Three Basketball and Beepfest. These proved a huge success and this was evident by the huge turnout of both competitors and spectators at all of these events.

The Learning Programs Committee was led by Paul Ancher and Liam Coyle. These boys completed many tutorials and courses throughout the year. The Study Skills tutorial and the Advanced Driving Course were two of the more successful programs these boys organized. The dancing classes were also popular thanks largely to Paul's organization and Liam's support.

Tom Stove and Will Calvert were the leaders of the Curriculum Executive. These boys organized many very successful Speakers' Forums as well as an Exam Hints Guide and a comprehensive Student Diary review. One successful Speakers' Forum featured a doctor just recently back from Afghanistan.

The General Secretary for 2001 was Jonathon Haynes. This position was crucial as it provided communication between the two sections of the Executive. On top of this, Jonathon organized a very successful 40 Hour Famine. His dedication was greatly appreciated.

The SRC has had a very fruitful year. All areas of the school have been helped by the SRC and the Junior and Middle School Councils have contributed to this process. We would like to thank all members of the SRC and Mrs Thompson who filled in during Term 2. A special thanks to Ms Schafferius and Mr Hodge for their continued guidance and support which contributed to a successful year.

ESL STUDENTS' ACTIVITIES

English as a Second Language (ESL) is an English course for non-English background students. In addition to English reading, writing, listening and speaking, many activities are organised. These ranged from end of term dinners, excursions to art galleries and wildlife parks, to drama, movies and farewell parties.

The most significant purpose of the excursions is to get to know Australian culture and society. Early this year the students went to Bonorong Park, where they learnt what animals are endemic in Tasmania and which species are becoming extinct. They were also able to hand-feed kangaroos, wallabies and emus and see wombats and Tasmanian Devils.

Another highlight of their activities was the visit to the art gallery at Salamanca Place. The exhibited displays were the students' impressions of Australia. The artworks were separated into three categories: paintings, photography and art production. The paintings collection was the major part in the exhibition. One of the paintings showed people from different racial and ethnic backgrounds surrounding Australia by holding hands and another piece was a picture of vegemite jars.

The photography section demonstrated the real life of Australia. The last part of the exhibition was art production. Students made some 3D art works that expressed their feelings about their study life in Australia. One of the art works showed some children playing cricket, another people sunbathing on the beach. Both of them illustrated how Australian people love sports and displayed their outgoing character.

Our overseas students are also taught about the Aboriginal people. One of their excursions was a visit to the cinema to watch the movie Yolngu Boy, which is about three Aboriginal teenagers who had different views on their nation and their Aboriginal lifestyle. It showed some traditional ceremonies of Aboriginal people.

At the end of second term the students were taken to the Careers Expo, which provided knowledge about different types of careers and the demands of each job. The final excursion was a sightseeing trip to Richmond.

At the end of each term a dinner was organised for the students. In Term 1 the theme was Indian food, in Term 2 Chinese and in Term 3 the dinner was held in an Italian restaurant, as a special dinner for the Year 12 leavers.

“Reaching Out”

‘Reaching Out’ was the focus this year in the ELC and Junior School. The theme was two-pronged. The first focus was for every child to ‘Reach Out’ and achieve his personal best in all areas - academic, social, emotional and physical. The second focus tied in with the ‘International Year of the Volunteer’ and boys were encouraged to reach out and assist those in need both locally and globally.

Academically, the boys have participated in the Maths Olympiad and in the NSW Maths, Science, Computer and English Competitions, faring very well and scoring numerous high distinctions, distinctions and credits. Two of our World of Trivia teams made it to the finals with the Year 4 team coming third in the state finals.

Musically, the boys have returned from Eisteddfods with a veritable swag of prizes and awards, including a number of first places for individual and choir events.

Physically, the boys have also performed well judging from some fine results in the independent school swimming and athletics carnivals.

Add to these the many stimulating class programs, camps, excursions, the mainland trip, Poetry and Prose nights, the excellent production of “Aladdin” and it becomes clear that the boys have had a most productive year.

However, whilst this is very important, success or ‘reaching out’ needs to be defined in broader terms. Many of the children have reached out and attained their own personal goals. It might be that a child has overcome learning difficulties, or is developing his unique talents, or simply that he has learned more about compassion and tolerance, or patience.

In Reaching Out the boys have worked hard to fundraise on occasions such as ‘Red Nose’ day and ‘Jeans for Genes’ day. They have also contributed generously to the RSPCA, the

“There are thirteen blocks in my tower”

Guide Dog Association, Lenten Appeal, Anglicare, the Madeleine Foundation, World Vision and numerous others. National Tree Planting Day had the ELC children busily beautifying their own backyard. The Junior School also created another ‘lung’ for the earth with the help of parents, Green Corps and Conservation Australia, planting nearly 2,000 trees in Tea-tree Valley. Year 4 continued the good work in Lambert Gully. Other year groups

Collecting eggs for farmer Stuart have visited the Lost Dog’s Home, worked on the Hobart Rivulet, participated in environmental cleanups and helped with many other community projects: everyone doing their best to put something back into the community.

Speech Night for the Junior School and ELC provided recognition of the ways in which people or groups reach out - it was a wonderful conclusion to an excellent year.

Our own parent volunteers have enhanced many school programs including writing, reading, mathematics, cooking, art, perceptual motor programs, library, class parents, and tuckshop. The dedicated and committed staff have also consistently gone above and beyond the call of duty to reach out and support, coax and cajole every child in obtaining their personal best to enable them to think for themselves and being accountable for their actions, and to do the best they can.

How to demolish a monster

The monster has 2 heads and 4 eyes. He dribbles and he has huge muscles. He has 4 arms, he is 10cm tall, 10cm wide, has 8 claws and an 8 second memory.

First he follows the kids to school, then he hides in the bushes until it is lunchtime and he pounces on the kids and takes them home. He eats the kids.

To demolish the monster we need: a fake house, a remote control kid, a net.

Walk the remote control kid to school. At lunchtime, place the house in a lonely spot. Then walk the remote control kid into the house and the monster will follow. Drop the net on the monster. Then take him to jail.

How to demolish a monster

He has 55 000 000 eyes. He has 12 heads and he is 1 000 000cm tall. He is 500m fat. He wears pyjamas. He has two teeth and he has axes for his hands.

He chops down power poles on people. He kicks down buildings. He eats cars, and eats schools. He eats bricks so he eats homes. He eats chocolate so when he sees people eating chocolate, he eats them as well.

To demolish the monster we need: a net and wood. Put the net over him and make him eat the wood. The wood poisons him.

Jake Galpin

How to demolish a monster

The monster has 3 eyes, 3 heads (1 eye on each head). He is muscly and a 2 time weight lifting champion. He is 6 foot 9, his name is Swifty and his two friends are very, very, VERY! Tall!!!! His arms are 500cm long.

What does he do?

His 500cm arms catch planes. He doesn't just eat the planes, he eats the people inside! He likes to eat metal as well, so he sometimes eats cars, buses and other metal mechanical stuff.

What we need: a plane crossed with a half bus – half car. On top of the object, lays a big steel bar. The bar is 4m high and 15cm in length.

Set up the trap. Put the object in front of him. Then while he is eating it, throw a rock at him. When he is finally passed out, take him to the police. They will eventually put him in jail.

Owen Swain

How to demolish a monster

My monster is 1m tall, it has small muscles, it has 5 heads, it's black and orange and yellow. He has 10 eyes that never go to sleep.

All of the eyes look for nasty people and then it eats the person up.

You need a net with a coin in it and a fake nasty person with 10 spears in it. You throw the coin when the monster comes close and when he picks up the coin, the net comes out and the monster gets caught. It eats the fake nasty person and the spears kills it.

GREEK MYTHS

In April we started to learn about Greek Myths. We learnt a lot about mythical creatures and we made some, for example Cyclops, Medusa and Pegasus. We made these mythical creatures out of paper. It took a while but we got there. The next thing we did was learn a play on myths. There were three plays, Pandora's Box, The Minotaur, and Orpheus and Eurydice. Then we made a cool rap poem about Jason and the Argonauts. Finally we did it at assembly. It was bellissimo!

Laurence Kenworthy-Neale, Charlie Holmes

CAMP

On Tuesday somewhere in April we went to camp. We were going to Southport. It took two hours to get there in a bus. When we got there we unpacked and got split into three different huts. Each day we would go for a walk. On the second day we went abseiling. It was awesome! On the third day we went swimming. Everyone went to where the waves were big. We played table tennis before tea. We went to the gem polisher. On the last day some people went to the beach in the morning before we left. We got back on Friday. We had a great time.

Dougal Middleton, Peter Woodworth, Jaryd Tacey and Jordan Sen

David Mulcahy, Robb MacMillan

FABRICS

In second term we were looking at fabrics. We tested them to see if they were waterproof. Afterwards we tested them to see if they were flammable. The flammable fabrics that burned were pure wool and cotton. Velvet smouldered a lot. It was very smelly. We glued them in our Science Books and named them. The testing of the waterproof fabrics went well. The most waterproof fabrics lasted over night and the weekend.

Matthew De Hoog and Charlie Holmes

TRAVEL BROCHURES

We did Travel Brochures on other countries. I did the USA. We had to write about the Culture, Geography and History we had to encourage the reader to go to the country. Just about everyone did a different country. After we finished our brochures we had a feast where you bring food from any country. It was very interesting learning about other countries. We got marked on the pictures, information and the quality.

Sam Hookway and David Mulcahy

POETRY

In third term we made a Poetry Corner. There was early alliteration, tongue twisters, shape poems and limericks. Shape poems are poems that are in the shape of that poem. Tongue twisters are different. They have the letter they choose most popular like: "Garry gagged gemstones for getting a gun". Early alliteration is three words like "Rivers, Run, Rudely". They are the types of poems in the poetry corner.

Bodane Hatten

MONEY

In Term 2 we learnt about money. Our class designed a bank note on a person. We had to figure facts about our person. We also went to Moorilla where there was a collection of old coins. A man gave us a booklet to work on about coins. In Term 3 we wrote a Coin Story. It was a competition. I think there were some brilliant stories. My favourite coin is the Sir Donald Bradman coin because he is famous and he is playing a wonderful shot.

Samuel Allender

ELECTRIC MODELS

Our class did a project on Electronics. I took a while to make but we got there. Each model had different characteristics. We had some unusually weird machines like a quiz board, Morse code machine and a robot. The most common was the car. The robots were made with shiny foil. The eyes lit up when we pushed the two wires together on the battery. This was creating an electronic circuit, the more batteries the brighter the light. We blew up a lot of lights by putting too many batteries in the circuit.

Robert Cameron, Duncan Lamond, Zac Galpin, Peter Whitley

HOBART RIVULET

We did several walks relating to the Hobart Rivulet. They started high up on the mountain and ended up on the Regatta Ground. On each walk we tested the water for temperature turbidity and ph level. The lower down in the catchment the more pollution in the water. Mrs Collis and Mrs Knight told us that the rich people used to live high up and the poor people lived down in Wapping. The poor people got all of the rich people's rubbish and sewerage that made the water polluted and now it is still very dirty. On the last excursion we went down and saw the Domain Tunnel. It is next door to the sewerage works. We played soccer on the grass up on the Regatta Ground. David claims that it was great fun and we believe him! We are now making a banner for the Taste of Tasmania. We made our own class banner that we put up in our classroom. It's great!

Investigating the Rivulet: Yianni Papoutsakis, Bodane Hatten

Angus Ware, Darren Freese and Chester Lik

A to Z

A little girl was riding her bike
But an old man killed her.
Carefully he
Dragged her down the street.
Every day he checked the body.
"Far out" he said, "cause the body was gone!
Grabbing his coat, he ran down the street.
He knew where the body could be, in the graveyard.
It was a good guess too.
Jake, a friend was trying to Kill the ghost of it.
Little laser beams came out of its eyes.
Miss Killem was her name.
No one could kill her.
One day someone was getting buried.
Pussy cats howled and were very sad.
Quite a noise woke up the evil Miss Killem.
Reving her deadmobil
She ran all over the cats.
"To be or not to be," she laughed.
Ultimately Jake and I came and the battle began.
Vision was hard 'cause it was very dark
With a judge to see them fight Xylophones played.
"You will die" said Jake and I.
Zebras then ran over everyone and no-one lived.

A to Z

A little dude called John Howard (Jr) was really good at Bicycling. His friend
Carl was almost as good as Damien, his other friend.
Eating chocolate bars made them very Fast. When John got Going he Hurried to the top of an Impossibly high ramp, but Carl and Damien could Jump better than him. John Kicked his bike whenever he Lost. Finally, he got Mad and said to himself
Not to muff up again..
On the next day he Perfected his jump and Quickly rushed over the Ramp. He no longer
Sank into the water, so he won the Trophy at the Under 12 championships in Venezuela. After he Won the race, he had to go for an X-ray because he twisted his ankle
Yanking his bike back up the ramp. His father

The farm was owned by Brett Cashion. To plant a tree we needed a windshield, three stakes, a mat and the plant. We worked really hard and we planted 1000 trees. It was really tiring and everyone worked flat out. We were all puffed out because even though the ground had been turned over it was hard to make the holes because of rocks. I planted four because I was helping the workers set everything up. I think
National Tree Day is the best.

A Fowl Story

In the incubator are 48 duckling eggs and 12 chicken eggs. We turn them every morning and after school. When they are hatched, we put them in the nursery all together. There are nine in the nursery but some are in the incubator with faces on the eggs. They need light in the nursery. The candle can tell us if they are going to hatch or not hatch.

The eggs are Miss Gottschalk's and Mr Turbett's. Mr Turbett built the incubator with his son, Simon. Nearly all the ducklings can swim. It was sad when one died and I thought he had been popped in the bin, but Mrs Knight had buried him.

We took all the chickens outside to get some fresh air. I have enjoyed having them in our classroom and watching them hatch and grow.

My Year 4 Highlights

In Class 4 I enjoyed lots of things. Here are some of them. I really enjoyed camp at Southport because we did lots of fun things like abseiling and going to the beach.
Another thing I enjoyed was following the Hobart Rivulet. It was fun because it involved bushwalking and testing the water clarity. I also enjoyed playing soccer in winter because it tested my playing skills and my teamwork. Another highlight of Class 4 was keeping duck and chicken eggs in an incubator in our classroom and watching them hatch, partly because when they were older some of us took some home! We also raised tadpoles into frogs because we studied the changes in them. I worked hard and achieved most of my goals which include getting 150 merits. I enjoyed learning about catchments, countries and also lots of new spelling words.

What an, exciting, creative and active year we have had! Our World, Antarctica, The First Fleet and camps have engrossed us. Read about our highlights.

Tom Ransley

My favourite project this year was on Antarctica. I liked studying the different types of penguins.

Angus Brettingham-Moore

The best thing about this year was going on an excursion to Antarctic Adventure. I learnt heaps of stuff about the radios, the tents, the vehicles and walking around in Antarctica. It was really good fun.

Sam Chan

My favourite activity on camp was abseiling down a 13 metre cliff. Abseiling is my favourite sport - even the first step is cool.

Daniel Bower

The best part of camp was abseiling because I had never been abseiling before.

James Creak

My favourite thing this year was learning about Antarctica.

Lachie Sorell

I think the best thing was the Launceston trip. I went to my Nan's house and it was cool.

Mitchell Springer

My favourite thing on camp was abseiling because it was real excitement. We went down 13 metres. It was great fun. I hope all the other Year 5 boys enjoyed it as well.

Andrew Douglas

My best experience at camp was getting completely soaked and abseiling over the edge of a cliff.

Chris Rushworth

My favourite thing about camp was abseiling even though I have a phobia about heights. When I looked down the cliff I was so scared. I had two attempts but on the third I did, and when I got down I felt like I had won a gold medal!

Daniel Ling

My favourite thing about this year was the Launceston trip in first term. I thought it was great. I have never been to a house overnight when I didn't even know the family.

Patrick Mulcahy

The best activity at camp was definitely abseiling. I had never ever abseiled. It was intense at first, but became fun in the middle.

Jordan Rattle

The best aspect of camp was abseiling because when you look over the edge you feel scared, but if you take the first step you feel fantastic.

Wills Thompson

James Creak and Tom Allwright

I think the best thing about this year was going on the Lady Nelson because it was really fun having a steer of the ship and pulling up the ropes.

Tom Ransley

The thing I really enjoyed studying was the Antarctic assignment. We went to Antarctic Adventure. That was really fun.

Thomas Allwright

I think the best thing about camp was playing soccer with Mr Billett. The ground was saturated and we got really wet.

Lachlan Glass

My favourite aspect of school this year was our Antarctic project. Pumping information and facts into our heads.

Graeme Wertheimer

The best thing about this year was drawing lots of good pictures.

Nick Harrison

My best experience at camp was getting completely soaked and abseiling over the edge of a cliff.

Chris Rushworth

The best thing about camp was abseiling, at the end you could just drop.

Edward Guiler

Postcard From Early Sydney Town

I am returning home on the 11th of December 1792. I'm sick, tired and disappointed with the new colony's progress. The houses collapse in heavy rain and the roofs often catch fire. There are now nearly 700 huts as well as 98 substantial houses. There is also a windmill. See you soon, love Arthur.

Daniel Bower

Christmas on Chilungeree

I sat down on my favourite old rocking chair in the corner of my room, or should I say, our room? I shared a bedroom with Anna, my little sister. As soon as Anna heard her name she was poking her blond piggytailed head inside the door.

"Go away," I said.

"Don't have to," whined Anna. "It's my room too you know."

Next thing I knew she had slipped into her side of the room. The day we got here I drew a line right down the middle of our room with white chalk. The line is no longer visible to the human eye but is effective all the same.

The next morning when I was eating my toast my dad dropped the big news. "Kids, your mum and I have decided to have a totally bush Christmas. No fancy wrapping paper, no fancy presents, only home made stuff, OK?"

It was definitely the worst idea he had had since we moved to Chilungeree.

Crazy Convicts and Other Limericks

There was an old mate called Phil,
Who often took anxiety pills.
One day took too many
And sent himself silly
And ended up being a dill.

Gabe Monachetti

There was a young man called Bill
Who had a convict sister called Jill
The judge was real mad
When he saw that they had
Many people attempted to kill.

Tim Blacker

There was a convict called Bruce
Whose head was stuck in the noose
He got fifty lashes
Then plenty of bashes
Before he was allowed to be loose.

Alex Stebbins

There once was a convict named Ray

Our world has lots of volcanoes
And animals
Our world is full of beauty
Covered in grass
Full of Water
Dangerous, unexplored places
Scary and untamed animals
Lurking in the wilderness
Targeting their prey
Salty, frothy, fresh and dirty water
All a part of our world.

In the day the sun is shining
Bright and scorching
If you want to walk at night
You'll have to go torching
In the raging wild river
How we could survive the shiver
Unexplored parts of the world
Heaps of diamonds up-hurled
Dangerous creatures in the forest
Like the eagle who makes a nest
Don't stop the human race
I love living in this place.

Henry Young

The sound of water
Spraying right in my face
Smashing against rocks
Shells, rocks swept from sand to sea
Rockpools filled with

Boats crashing against the waves
Creatures of the deep
Calm and quiet.

My soccer skills have really improved. In fact, our whole team improved after training together and learning about each other's strengths.

This year I finished reading the Harry Potter series. I have learned to read much faster this year and I am really enjoying it.

Jack:

This year I have improved in maths in my automatic response work, my spelling and my drama work. I have been more organised and I have improved my reading skills. I have got better at handling the ball in soccer and have tried really hard for my team.

The Life of a Plant

Hi, my name is Angus. I'm a little apple tree on old farmer Brown's farm. My mummy is just outside the gate. She is really big. I don't have a daddy. It all started when farmer Brown picked an apple off one of mummy's branches. He then hopped on his motorbike and drove off, leaving a trail of dust behind. On the way he ate the apple, spitting the seeds out here and there. I was one of them. I'm just next to the carport. Over time I germinated. My mummy said that I was a really slow grower.

Emms: "Soul Shadow"

It was very hard on the farm, very dry with no shade; not that I needed much anyway. Nonetheless I grew lots of apples. The summer of '97 was really hard. It didn't rain; I was dying. No apples I bore, no nice green leaves. Farmer Brown's farmhand, Nick, occasionally watered me. Oh yes, I forgot to tell you, I have two sisters, Lisa and Kate; and four brothers, Mark, James, Hugh and Toby. They are all scattered around the farm.

My mummy said that I need light, water, carbon dioxide and good soil to grow to make glucose, which I use as energy. I think that this is what human's call photosynthesis. I breathe in carbon dioxide and breathe out oxygen. I think that humans and animals need oxygen to breathe so I guess that I am doing them a favour. It really hurts when people pick apples off me, but anyway. Oh yes, you can get boy trees. I'm a boy, and you can get girl trees too, really, honest. Nick picked many apples off my branches. Some he kept and some he ate. Then one day 3 seeds germinated, I was so proud! Three little boy apple trees. They grew and they grew.

I got old; I started to bear less and less apples. I started to die, but I wasn't sad. I had helped continue the life cycle. Finally I shrivelled up and rotted. I had played my part.

Melbourne – Canberra 2001

On Tuesday 6 November 2001 the Class Six holidaymakers left Hobart for Melbourne. After a quick lunch at Melbourne airport we boarded our connecting flight bound for Canberra. Some of the landmarks we visited were: the Telstra Tower, the National Capital Exhibition and the Australian Institute of Sport. The highlights of the second day were the Parliament House tour, the Australian War Memorial and Questacon - a hands-on science experience. The next

Slugocki: "the Lost Economy"

Sadness

Sadness is swirls of black and grey.
It tastes like cold porridge on a freezing morning and smells of rotting bananas.
Sadness looks like lightning on a stormy day,
It sounds like the humming of an old car.
Sadness feels like a homeless, lonely boy on a busy road.

Hugh Burbury

day we left Canberra for Melbourne. When we arrived we left the airport and headed towards Ballarat, a two-hour bus trip. At Ballarat we visited the Eureka Stockade and Sovereign Hill. Over the next couple of days in Melbourne we visited landmarks such as the MCG, the Imax theatre, Daimaru and the Melbourne Aquarium. On Saturday we had the whole day free with our Ivanhoe Grammar billets and on the Sunday we left Melbourne to return home to Hobart. Along with Mr Prebble, Mr Docking and Mr and Mrs Lade, we had a fantastic time.

Bishop and Clerk

Climbing higher and higher to the clouds in the sky,
Walking through a dark green corridor wishing we could fly.

Like ants silently marching in line,
Under cover of the grey clouds, so sublime.

High rugged cliffs rising majestically from the sea.
Old and weather beaten cliffs staring back at me.

Huge boulders perched atop the cliffs,
Like sentinels watching over the mist.

Wide open spaces, a deep blue sea, mirror like and endless,
Stretching further than the eye can see.

The sound of waves crashing way below.

Maria Island Acrostic Poems

Mt Maria was massive.
Awesome painted cliffs.
Really big bush walks.
In the coffee palace there is a piano.
And there were also cupboards with information in them.
Interesting animals, plants and buildings
Scared kangaroos jumping over the hill.
Luckily we got a swim but it was too cold.
Also the animals were friendly.
Never climb Bishop and Clerk, but the view is excellent.
Dangerous boulders everywhere.

Great walks with great views.
Ruins are commonly found on Maria Island.
Animals, which forage in the plants
Deserted ruins, remain.
Everybody goes there to see the wildlife.
6 possums roaming around the cabins.

Camp was fun.
Amazing beaches.
Mr Marriott was tired after the walks.
People were exhausted.

Farewell song

Farewell to old Scotty, forever
Farewell to our classmates as well
Farewell to the stingy old teachers,
We've just rung the crusty school bell.

Mr Marriott is our commander,
Us and all of the crew,
They made us work non-stop for ages,
It's a blast that we made it through.

They tried oh so hard to teach us,
And force something into our brains,
But when you look at our cheery faces,
It's so hard to see who remains.

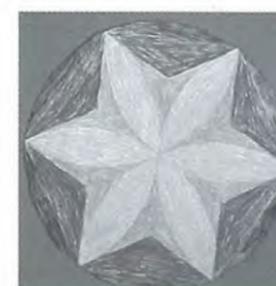

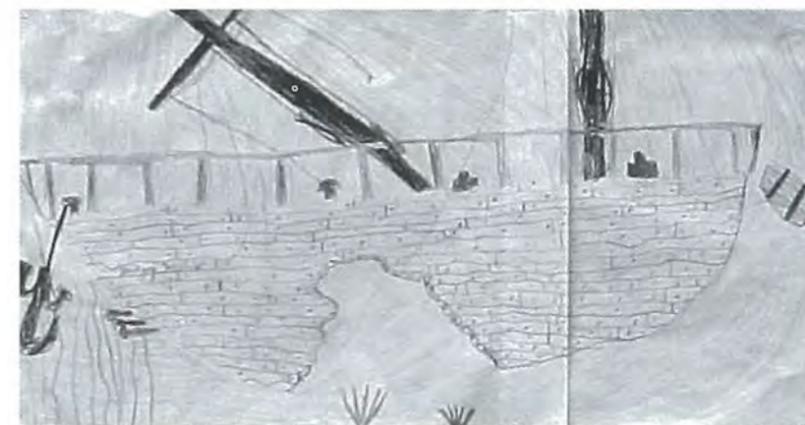

For many a long year we've been slaving here,
At least that's for most of the time,
We tried very hard to work,
When we were bored out of our mind.

Taint leaving Junior School that we care about,
Taint leaving you all behind,
But because we are Year Sixers
We are wondering next year what we'll find.

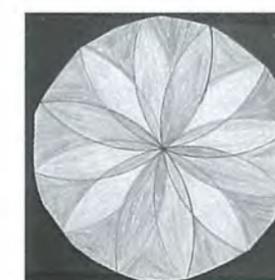

We've been on here together,
Travelled all over the state,
Done sports, given music performances,
We must say that this part was great.

Now all of you little tackers in lower years,
Takes warning of what we say,
If you want to live up to the Sixth Year
You'd better start working today.

RIVER

Rivers rushing bold and true
Make a sight for me and you.
As I'm wading up the stream
I see the river blue and clean.
I watch, as the river runs by,
I look down and see the sky.
If I squint, I see the ground
Yet this doesn't happen all year round.
For, the very next day I went and saw
A river, yet it was not clear and clean,
For, it was brown and had lost its sheen.
Goodbye, river, I said as I turned away,
Maybe I'll come back to Maria Island
Another day.

The Canberra/Melbourne Trip

Ascending to the dizzy, intellectual heights of political debate - Our 'would be' team of parliamentarians

DAY 2 - 7 November 2001

At twenty to seven in the morning Mr Prebble woke us up. At seven-thirty we had breakfast in the dining hall. It was WeetBix and eggs. We got our backpacks from our rooms and met outside next to the bus. It took us to Parliament House. As part of our tour we had a debate, with the Ruling party and the Opposition party, and an independent. We went to the House of Representatives, and the Senate. Students then went to the Parliament shop in the Marble Foyer of Parliament House. Lunch was eaten in the underground car park.

DEEP UNDER THE SEA

It's lonely down here for me,
Deep, deep under the sea.
Where fish and stingrays dwell,
And even the hermit in his shell.
It's quiet and it's dark,
Except for the big, great white shark.
Today, I saw a rotted, old boat,
Although, it wasn't quite afloat.
There's no one to talk to,
Not even a snail,
Not even a postman to deliver the mail.
See, it's lonely for a boy like me,
Deep down under the sea.

OCEAN

Big and blue and wet.
Where fish, sharks and whales
Swim and dance and sing.
Men catch them on string.
The ocean has power,
So much, it makes me cower.
The rivers feed the ocean.
The rivers rush from the mountain.
Waves crash on the rocks-SMASH-
With a big SPLASH.

Teachers' Secrets Revealed

I remember my first morning at Hutchins very well. It was the beginning of Term 2 1979 and David Brammall took me down to the Middle School for my first lesson. What struck me was how pleasant and friendly all the boys were in their greetings. It wasn't long, therefore, before I realized that Hutchins' major asset is its students. It took me a lot longer to realize that the School's other huge asset is its staff. This is especially true of our Middle School. In thinking over what to write for this article, it occurred to me that there was a need to make the students more aware of the wonderful staff they have caring for them.

Kind....always takes care of people...good at sewing

This is how three Year 7 students described their Year Head, Mrs Waters. All of that is true, of course, but I wonder how many students have any idea of the amount of time Mrs Waters devotes to their welfare. Let's just take the last two weekends, for example. Saturday of the first weekend she was here all morning taking care of next year's new Year 7s at the school. She had even taken the trouble to go out and buy them some drinks and biscuits. The following Sunday, she was at school for the orientation afternoon from 8:30am. And she is an accomplished cox!

Good...friendly...great surfer

That last comment gives it away. It's Mr Kingston these boys were talking about. Reports always require a lot of time. Mr Kingston was still here last night after I left at 10 o'clock, doing his reports and drinking hot coffee and eating chocolate biscuits. He was on the phone to me first thing this morning, telling me about one of his Year 8s that he is concerned about. One thing all his students do know is how approachable and kindly he is. They only have to look at the crowd of happy boys around him anywhere anytime.

She's a good teacher and she always watched over us

One of her tutor group is talking about Mrs Bratt. I am sure she would be very pleased to be called "a good teacher" - that is very important to her. Her marvellous sense of humour is probably something her students don't know about but we, her colleagues, are lucky enough to. Nor would her students be aware how fiercely she fights so that they get a fair deal with their study of art.

He's caring...thinks of his students a lot

One only has to read Mr Addison's tutor reports to know how true these statements about him by some students are. Do those students know how sincere he is when he refers to his tutor group in discussion as "my boys"? Do they appreciate how much he gives to hockey or organizing his extension afternoon model railway sessions?

We have fun tutor periods

And these boys have them with Ms Britton. Ms Britton leaves us at the end of the year and we will all be very sad to see her go. No boys would be aware of the amount of work she put into organizing their Harry Potter outing or that she volunteered to assist in many ways at the end of year, nor would they know how efficient she was in preparing their reports on time.

She always thinks of her class first, before herself

Mrs Cazaly will probably become all flustered when she realizes this is a statement about her. Not many people would know that she spent some time the other afternoon at school, getting her room and desks better organized for next year! Nor would they know that she was ready to fight tooth and nail to ensure her tutor group had the chance of doing the abseiling they had missed!

He's funny...he's just a good bloke all round

These are student observations about Mr Sayers. One small group will know but most will not be aware of the personal sacrifices he made to allow his very enjoyable Play on Tour to take place. And he had already gone through the demands of presenting the very successful Year 7 Drama Evening. And this contribution to the welfare of our boys made by a man with a young family.

He helps me a lot in class

It seems that everyone taught by Mr McCammon has this high opinion of his teaching ability. They would be impressed in the same way to know how much time and effort he has put into his role of Academic Co-ordinator in the Middle School. I certainly know, because I have benefited so much this year from his work with such huge tasks as Family-Teacher evenings, reports, course nights and elective choices for Year 8.

He takes the time to explain and he looks after us

Mr Morrisby can be proud of these student assessments. There is a complete rowing club who know how much he contributes there but few know of the time, effort and thought he put into the Extension afternoons or the work he did trying to guide our scholarship students. He does all of this while still managing to plan his lessons very carefully and imaginatively.

Got things done, smoothly and easily

Hopefully Mr Berndt will appreciate these comments and understand that all his students think so highly of him. How much higher would their regard be if they knew the time he put in as acting Year Head, organizing the Leadership Program, for example, or if they knew how keen he was to go on one of their camps with them. I wonder too if he realizes how upset they all were to learn of his recent illness and how delighted they were with his recovery.

Had some good stories to tell....Always made you laugh....She's very friendly

And that's how students have described Mr French, Mr Bullock and Ms Seabrook. Rightly so, too. What students do not know is how emotional Mr French really was about leaving them or how meticulous Mr Bullock was in his organization of the summer sports morning which was to be held well after he had left. Nor can they have any idea how well Ms Seabrook filled the gap caused by the departure of Mr Bullock, how readily she volunteered to help out with such fiddly tasks as working out the winner of Cock House.

As they read these pages now and as they return to them from time to time in the years to come, perhaps the boys of 2001 will have an even better appreciation of the pastoral staff of their Middle School.

Year 7: "Being in the Middle School is awesome"

Starting Year 7 at Hutchins is like being in a new world for many boys. For those joining us from other schools, there are new teachers, new routines, new subjects, new expectations and new opportunities, and even for those moving up from the Junior School there are exciting challenges, both physical and mental to be met. How do the boys themselves see it?

'I have met lots of new friends, lots of new teachers and I've enjoyed all of my subjects.'

Oli Venettacci

'I have made great friends, it has been challenging and stimulating and I have improved academically while having great fun.'

James Eaves

'The teachers are nice, the colourful buildings make me want to be here and I like the range of subjects.'

John McQuillan

'You don't get distracted by girls and you don't get put down for trying your hardest, because everyone does try his hardest.'

Andrew Hutchens

'Being in the Middle School is awesome because you are treated like adults, not kids.'

Sam Burnett

Yr 7ACA Airwalk excursion

It is one of the most enjoyable years in our boys' lives. The curriculum is designed to stimulate and encourage learning in a variety of ways, while giving boys a taste of the many areas of study that are open to them at Hutchins. Sport, House competitions and other co-curricular activities are embraced enthusiastically by all. Special events such as our two Extension Afternoons, excursions and activities with Collegiate pepper the calendar.

The Curriculum

The Year 7 curriculum includes Music, Drama, Art, Design, Technology, PE, Religious Studies, Personal Development, French, Indonesian, SOSE, Science, Maths and English. As well, all boys participate in at least two sports. During October, in what has become a feature of the Middle School experience, a three-week integrated theme with 'Heroes and Heroines' as the topic was studied across the curriculum.

'I enjoyed being in Year 7 because it seems like the teachers really want to teach.'

Ben Cleary

'Science was really fun. We got to butcher bulls' eyes and use real science equipment.'

Richard Taylor

Sam Burnett

'I really enjoy Maths because of the challenges.'

Alastair Sayers

'English has been great fun, and has improved my writing, spelling, reading and punctuation skills dramatically. We have done a lot of story writing.'

James Eaves

'This year I was involved in Chapel Choir, String Ensemble, String Trio, String Quartet, Piano Trio and class music. I enjoyed it all!'

Peter Clark

'I loved drama. We learned all about body language, we got to play heaps of games and we even touched on lighting.'

We regretfully farewell Jill Britton, and wish her every success in her adventures in South America. Thank you boys and thank you staff for a wonderful year.

Yr 7 Art

Autumn

The swirling wind softly rustles the tanned leaves
As it drifts across the courtyard.
The droplets of soft, refreshing dew
Trickle slowly down the rough-barked tree trunks.

'Autumn is here at last!'

Scream the energetic young children,
As they race to play,
In the soft, crisp bundles of leaves.

Tom Allie, 7ACa

Yr 7 Art

Plundering the towns stealing many a jewel,
Then guarding its huge golden hoard.

Engulfing all that is in its path,
With its scorching fiery breath,
Unleashing its mighty rage,
Leaving in its wake ... death.

Jarrod Brellis, 7IAd

Dragon

Dragon fangs and claws that strike,
Armoured, jewelled, prepared to fight.
Warrior men are drawing nigh,
Glittering jewels that sit on high,
March through night, march through day,
Huge black steeds are on their way.
Wings will beat, arrows fly,
Dragon, men or beast may die.

Dragon alights, the final flight,
A flaming arrow lights the night,
Pierces armour, skin and blood,
Hits the heart, a small dull thud,
Falls to ground, quiver and shake,
Never another sound to make.
Dragon dead, jewels recovered,
Jewels that light the sky above us.

Ryan Foster, 7IAd

Dragon

A colossal, destructive, powerful beast,
Of evil right down to the core,
The clash of its tail, the crash of its wings,
Its thunderous, windlashing roar.

The fear of the land, which it roams around,
Its armour too strong for a sword

Year Eight

The Year Eights have had another successful year in all facets of their schooling. They started the year under the guidance of Mr Chris Berndt who took Mr Chris French's place while he was on Long Service Leave. During this term more than half the boys became actively involved in the leadership program. In March there were three training seminars held after school. These included an Introductory Course, an Early Learning Centre Leader Course and an Upper Primary Leader Course. Boys gained skills in supervising activities for younger students. I was impressed that many boys completed all of the courses. The leadership training camp was held late in March at "Orana" Camp at Lauderdale. This year, over thirty boys participated and many stood out as potential Middle School Council Representatives.

In second term, Mr Chris French returned from leave to resume the Year Head role. The camps to Little Swanport highlighted this term. Each tutor group spent five days in the bush learning and honing bush navigation skills. The camp included canoeing, navigation and camp cooking. The boys always find this camp to be an enjoyable but challenging camp where many important skills are learned. During the term Mr French left the school after 11 years of outstanding service to take on an exciting role as Head of Middle School at Whitsunday Anglican School in Mackay.

Mr Berndt, once again, found himself at the helm until he became ill. This came as a shock to staff and students alike. We are all glad that he is making steady progress.

This term has been my first as Year Head. I have found this year's students to be an exceptionally friendly and cooperative group. I have been impressed with the maturity shown by all boys and particularly the ones who have learned from their mistakes and have finished the year on a positive note despite having difficulties earlier.

Year 8 Sausage Sizzle

Academic Excellence

This year has seen an emphasis placed upon Year Eight students making an effort to improve their application in academic areas. I was extremely pleased to see a majority of students act on the suggestions made in their mid-year reports and make noticeable improvements in the second semester. In addition to this, the Hutchins Middle School has done particularly well in the National Schools Academic Competitions in 2001. Below, I've highlighted some of the individual achievements that our Year Eight boys have attained.

Leadership and Service

As mentioned above, many boys took the opportunity to become involved in the leadership program. A few of these stood out as having the prerequisite skills to be appointed to the Middle School Council. After the leadership training period, students will be appointed to the Middle School Council through recommendations of students, tutors, Year Head and the Head of Middle School.

This year's Middle School Council had the following members:

Ramanan Daniel	Newsletter
Nathan Street	Fundraising
Ian Mitchell	Activities
Robert Sim	Current Affairs
Charles Stoessiger	Assemblies/Chapel
Tom Ryan	Academics
Jack Viney	Service

These boys have maintained high levels of participation this year. They finished the year working together to raise one hundred and fifty dollars through their massive sausage sizzle. The money helps support Rodolpho, our sponsored student in El Salvador.

The Kokoda Trail

Perched in a tree, unseen, a sniper waits.
Peering through his rifle's cross-sight, his dark eyes show no emotion.
Silence ...
The jungle, empty of all human noise before, sounds to the noise of a patrol,
Trying to move quietly through jungle so thick it could swallow a train.
These souls crash through the ferns and stumble through the mud,
Wishing the war had never happened.
Packs weighing them down, guns slung over their backs, heads hanging down,
Hiding eyes bloodshot and lifeless.
A shot rings out over the jungle, a soldier jerks and falls.
His hopes of glory gone in a terrifying instant as his eyes glaze over.
The other patrollers fall and bury themselves into the stagnant ooze that is the ground they Were moving across.
The victim lies face down in the mire.
No songs will be sung about him.
One hundred years later no-one will even remember who he was or what he did.
This is war on the Kokoda Trail.

Sacrifice

Reflection of horse-rider shimmers on lake
Cloaked man on stallion's back, death in his wake.
Escaping to sunset, nowhere to hide
Chasers are killers and death they provide.

Four-legged one stumbles, time will not wait
Rough road is treacherous and awkward its gait.
Cover is scarce; the odds are the same
Man on horse wishes that this was a game.

Cloth cloak billows grandly, receives chilling wind
Followers are furious; their victim has sinned.
Canopy thickens, light is blocked out ...
Horse disappears, leaves only a shout.

Canines continue though sightings are none
Determined to bring in the long-hunted one.
Muscled flanks rippling unaware of surrounds
Tails in the air, heads to the ground.
Formation is lost - no pattern clear
Flying, flying! No thought of fear.

***

Boot slips from stirrup, feet fall to land
Pressure is off now, no enemies at hand.
Man lies down, reaches up, pulls back his hood
Beneath lies a sunken face, no trace of good ...

The last thing he sees is the sun in descent
And falls into sleep, for the daytime is spent.

***

Man returns to life, everything black
Grabs lantern, starts flame, instantly jumps back.
For there, not far away, seen as he stood
Was an unconscious figure in the midst of the wood!

Heart in a lurch and pulse in a race
Crouches down slowly, hands to her face ...
Finds she has life, though little at best
And decisions come, putting his pride to the test.
To rescue this young one whom Fortune declined
Or to leave her here needy and survive guilty mind.

His conscience prevails, he chooses to save
Thus will he give himself up - be enslaved.
Looks at the innocent, emotionally torn
Mindful of his wasted life, uselessly adorned.

Hoists charge to carrier's back, secures her with line
Checks she is motionless - tightens the twine.
Realizes his mission, no longer feels tired
Sets off apace, a human inspired.

***

Reflection of horse-rider shimmers on lake
Freedom is lost now, time in his wake.
Escaping from old life, starting one new,
For he knows that his deeds were heroic and true.

Wild Horses

Sleek, beautiful,
Running under the moonlight
Glistening with sweat
They gallop.
Ever careful,
Ever cautious,
Always wary of the light.

The night holds many dangers.
They have seen their friends go before them
Their hoofs
Sounds of thunder
As they run through the barren landscape.
The wild horses run,
Ever fearful,
Ever watchful.

Robert Jubb, 8LMo

Tennis

Fast.
Exciting.
Loud grunts.

Enemy opposite end.
Nerve-racking shots.
Performance pressures.
Precise placements.
Mental, physical fatigue.
Forehand drop volleys.
Backhand crosscourt.
Overhead smash!
Swinging serve.

Crowd cheering,
Clapping,
Calling encouragement, Chanting.
Tense, silent waiting.
My game.

Damian Templar, 8LMo

White Water Wall, Freycinet

It was awesome. Great rocky slopes dropped down in front of me.
One hundred and eighty degrees of ocean filling up most of my field of vision. The rock face in front of me was at least thirty metres high. There was no vegetation whatsoever on the rocks because when the storms come the waves can reach up to twenty-five metres. Whatever trees there are on top are really struggling for survival; the wind lashes at them twenty-four hours a day through the winter and during the summer the sun burns the hell out of them. With no water available, they should really be dead.

Groups of people were scattered here and there, climbing, abseiling, teaching, learning. The sound of clinking climbing equipment banging together filled the air constantly.

The large slabs of granite rock were very warm with the late-noon sun. Behind the rock faces there was a great forest of Ironbark trees, creating a dead, silent area which was soothing to the ears as you walked through. The sea was a dark blue-green colour with large clumps of stringy seaweed being tossed around like feathers in the wind.

The campsite was behind the trees, down a small, dirt track. The tents were already set up, waiting for our return. The climbing gear was laid out in front of me: ropes, nuts, hexes, all worn with use. A fishing boat cruised past with a flock of seagulls chasing after it as persistently as the moon chases the sun.

Head of Senior School Report

In this, the centenary year of Federation, the Senior School year has again been busy and productive. A number of students have performed exceptionally well in competitions for core and elective subjects. In both National and State Mathematics competitions, Ronan Fenton (9) was an outstanding performer. Also successful were Adrian Kan (12), Jack Madden and Dean Rollins (10), and Michael Bowditch, Hamish Hall, and Martin Mulcahy (9).

Luke Sypkes (12) and Ronan Fenton (9) each came first in the state section of the Australian Schools Writing Competition. Debating results also reflected considerable depth in talent. The senior division of the state final was won by a Year 11 team: Chris Jones, Liam Coyle, Alex Finnis, James Oxley and Tom Stove. The School's Year 10 team won the intermediate division. A combined Hutchins-Collegiate team won the Tasmanian Debating Union Parliamentary Debating Competition. Speakers included Edward Webster (12). In January 2002 he will represent Australia at the United Nations Youth Forum in Amsterdam.

In Business Studies, Charles Cunningham (10) won the state "Plan Your Own Enterprise Competition". In the Humanities, Lewis Halliday (10) won the state division of the National History Challenge and Chris Jones (11) won the Dame Enid Lyons Award for outstanding research in Geography. In Design in Wood, Rodney Smith (12) won the Technical Excellence prize at the Tasmanian Wood Design Exhibition held recently in Hobart.

Noteworthy musical performances

Linking into the worship program, the Chapel Choir, under Mr Morris performed at many venues including the Cathedral and St George's Church, Battery Point. In the latter, much of their time was spent recording another CD, entitled 'To be a light'.

Other noteworthy musical performances included the Hutchins-Collegiate Concert held at the Federation Concert Hall in Term 1. In Term 2, for the first time, Hutchins entered a band in the Tasmanian Music Rock Challenge. 'The best yet' Jazz in the Quad and the Battle of the Bands performed in term 3 and were very well received. House Music too was again an exciting and eagerly awaited event. All enjoyed the performances, with School House successful in both sections.

Drama continues to attract a large number of participants. Productions have been of a high standard and exceptionally well received. The refurbished Auditorium has contributed to the performances through improved acoustics, lighting and stage area. Large, appreciative audiences came to the Year 11/12 production of 'Cosi' performed in Term 1 and 'Lockie Leonard' performed in Term 2 by Year 9/10 students. In addition, the House Drama night was exciting, entertaining and immensely fulfilling for those involved. Thorold House again was victorious.

On the sporting field there were a number of highlights. Perhaps the most notable was the outstanding performance of the First Hockey team, coached by Mr McLeod and Mr Addison. This remarkable team, led by Jeremy Inglis, went through the season undefeated. The First Soccer team comprehensively won their state final. At the Awards Assembly, it was also fitting that Mr Hoskins was acknowledged for his dedicated service to school soccer. The First Squash team, led by Duncan Forbes and managed by Mr Herbert, won the open final for the first time since 1993.

Guided by Mr Morris and Mrs Abell, the swimming team has continued its success. Within the team, Sam Madden and Joe Pemberton won medals at the Victorian Age Championships during the season. Sailing again met with considerable success. The Hutchins team (captained by Marcus Ashley-Jones) came second in the National Teams Sailing Championships, held in Hobart.

Rowing produced the most outstanding individual performance for the year when Cameron Wurf won the Australian Schoolboy Sculls and was a member of the Australian Junior Coxless Four, which rowed in Germany midyear. James Walsh and Alex Farmer (10) were also medallists at the Australian Schoolboy Championships.

We have also had strong participation in Table Tennis, in which Tim Carolan (10) finished third in the National Schools Competition, and in Basketball (fielding six teams from years 9 to 12). In Orienteering, Lee Andrewartha (10) was selected to represent the state in the National Championships held in Canberra. An emerging sport has been Rock Climbing, in which James Cameron (11) won the Australian Rock Climbing Championships recently held in Sydney.

At the Awards Assembly this year, Sam Halliday (12) was given an outstanding reception for his fine achievement of caps in six sporting activities: golf, football, water-polo, swimming, basketball and athletics. Five other boys received honour badges: Peter Ayliffe, Matthew Drury, William Kay, Andrew Morrisby and Alex Tozer.

During the course of the year, a number of guest speakers were invited to speak at the assemblies. Two had a significant impact because the issues were so topical. Dr Raz Simpson gave an informative and frank insight into the plight of ordinary people in Afghanistan, based on the time he spent in the northern part of the country as a medical officer. Alyss Gavlik, herself a wheelchair victim arising from a car accident, spoke of the challenges confronting her now that her life is totally dependent on other people.

Additional matters to highlight included NAIDOC Week (National Aboriginal Islander Day Of Celebration) in Term 2, where the school community gathered at a special ceremony and formed into the Aboriginal flag on the school tennis courts. The year has also seen the development of wider opportunities for Year 9 and 10 students to provide service to others and in the process develop greater empathy and leadership skills. Notable events here included the voluntary work undertaken at the Royal Hobart Show (Animal Nursery) and the various Middle and Junior School sporting fixtures.

Director of Studies Report

2000 Leavers' Results

On a number of measures, last year's results were an improvement on 1999. The improving Tertiary Entrance Scores (TER) show a very large number of our boys are responding to the thrust on academics. 32% were in the top 5% of state scores, 64% were in the top 15% of state scores, and 86% were in the top 30% of state scores.

Of course we celebrate the achievements of all our leavers but we particularly recognise those boys who gained Tasmania University Scholarships: Jason Sui won the CONTECH prize for the most outstanding results in Information Systems throughout the state. Tom Bignall, a Hutchins student in 2000, won the School of Agricultural Science Prize for best candidate in Agricultural Science at the TCE examinations in 2000.

There were many outstanding individual results amongst last year's leavers. The number of boys who gained scores in the 90s increased last year. I have listed them in descending order: Eric Daniel, Oscar Potter, Michael Shaw, Nick Starkey, Jason Sui, Richard Chopping, Matthew Baldwin, Nick Chapman, James Murdoch, Robert Howell, David Townsend, Robert Clark, Toby Ekins, Alistair French, Hugh Ellis, Suthaharan Mahindroo, Anthony Bastick, James Jenkins, Ben Tallboys, John Banks, Nick Balcombe, Leith Walker, Peter Cerny, Tom Gibson, Michael Nicholas, Finn Dorney, Andrew Langford, David Bell, Tim Warren, Richard Griggs and William Ward.

Boys leaving Year 12 now receive two scores. These scores rank students on a single scale for entry to university. The first is a scaled Tertiary Entrance Score (TER) and the second is a national Interstate Transfer Index (ITI). The TER is calculated by adding together the score (out of 20) of a student's best five subjects. This figure is then 'scaled' to take into account the quality of work done by the student in the particular subject relative to their performance in all their subjects. Scaling is not fixed. It varies from year to year. Last year the Year 11 results were scaled for the first time while the Year 12 results were not scaled. It will be remembered that the university introduced the ITI in 1999. It provides a common basis for comparing student scores between all Australian states. There are moves to totally replace the TER with a single ITI score in future.

Introduction of the Director of Studies Honours List

We have some exceptionally talented scholars in Year 11. For some years I have been concerned that our celebration of 'leavers' results overlooks the outstanding results of Year 11 boys, often in the same subjects as the 'leavers'. Each year boys in this group gain outstanding Year 11/12 subject results but are generally not mentioned on Speech Night. The DOS Honours List has been introduced to recognize these boys.

VET course: Students lined up to fight fires

I am delighted to inaugurate the following boys to the Director of Studies Honours List for 2000, for achieving the top 5% of Tertiary Entrance Scores in Year 11. Top of the list is Andrew Morrisby who gained a Tertiary Entrance Score of 92.9 on five pre-tertiary subjects. In three of the subjects - Biology, Music and Physical Science - he gained the top score in Year 11/12, a truly exceptional performance. Ian Pang also gained five pre-tertiary scores, with a TER of 79.3. Ian gained a perfect score of 20 for Physical Science. He was closely followed by Jonathon De-Hoog, who had four exceptional pre-tertiary results with a TER of 74.9. Jonathon gained the equal top score for Music. Adrian Kan also successfully studied four pre-tertiary subjects and gained the outstanding TER of 72.6. Adrian gained the top score for Mathematics Stage 2. Very close behind him, Thanapisal Koochapremkit gained a TER of 71.1 based on exceptional results in four pre-tertiary subjects. I know the whole school community joins me in congratulating these boys on their fine achievements.

Curriculum Developments This Year

2001 has been a very active year for curriculum review and development. Work continues on "integrated studies" in the Middle School. This year the theme was "Heroes". It culminated in a very successful family evening in Term III.

Literacy

Boys' Literacy is currently a major issue for educators and the wider community - and rightly so! It has always been important, but perhaps never more so than in today's competitive and skill-based world where the ability to communicate effectively is crucial.

At the beginning of this year the Senior School introduced Drop Everything And Read (DEAR) for all year 9 boys. DEAR cuts across the curriculum by mandating a 20-minute silent reading period after recess each day. One of the aims is to better facilitate the transition from Middle to Senior School while instilling the habit of reading. The emphasis is on pleasure and choice within some broad guidelines. I am pleased to report the program has been a great success, with boys and staff alike enjoying their DEAR time. Mr Brad Wells, The Head of English, has taken a particular interest in literacy including the introduction of DEAR.

In Junior School the program has been based on 'First Steps' which is a developmental literacy resource focused on the four language components: writing, spelling, reading and oral language. It emphasizes teaching and assessment practices and encourages the boys to be active learners, to think and solve problems while recognising, supporting and challenging them. Initial results are pleasing and the program will continue in 2002.

Revitalizing Years 9 and 10

Society is moving from the 'Industrial Age' to the 'Information Age'. Schools, along with other institutions, are part of this change. School practice has been based largely on a 19th Century factory model. Children moved in batches to teachers who instructed the whole group at the same time. In this model children were viewed as all being equally deficient in knowledge. The teacher was the provider of knowledge that was distributed equally to the whole class at the same time. The problem with this model was that it does not engage all the students, perhaps even all the capacity of any student. The question is not are the students being taught? The question is are they learning? In the last twenty years schools have significantly changed from this model. This is particularly so in the primary departments and would be very evident to any parents visiting the ELC or the Junior School at Hutchins. Some years ago we conducted a major review of early adolescent learning at Hutchins, that focussed on the Middle School years. This resulted in major change both to the facilities and to the teaching practice in Years 7 and 8. We are now extending the review process to Years 9 and 10.

Revitalizing Years 9 and 10 is about developing:

- all students as robust, well adjusted men (who know how to 'be' as well as how to 'do'). Men who can take responsibility for their own lives. Men who have high expectations and high moral standards
- active citizens with a high sense of civic duty and the capacity to contribute to the welfare of others
- successful independent learners with the ability to reason, who value knowledge and who successfully work in teams to solve problems
- a sense of local community while at the same time equipping boys as global citizens
- raising the level of academic performance
- those things essential to learning everything else in the 21st Century - speaking, reading, writing, calculating and competence in information technology, and
- a cultural understanding that values diversity and promotes inclusiveness.

We cannot achieve all these goals through routine classroom teaching alone. As a result, we are examining ways of engaging the boys actively with the issues that affect youth and affect the Tasmanian community both in the urban and in the rural environment. I expect some teaching will be away from the main school site. There has been wide consultation this year with a view to producing a model next year and then implementing the changes into Year 9 at the start of 2003. The model will provide for more choice and diversity in Year 9 and a closer linking of Year 10 to Year 11. The school is fortunate to have Mr Peter Symons leading these exciting changes.

PE & Health (Mind Matters)

Mindmatters refers to a national resource package which supports whole school strategies to improve the health and well-being of students. Social and emotional well-being have been linked to young people's schooling outcomes, their social development, their capacity to contribute to the workforce and the community, and the rate of youth suicide. Mindmatters aims to develop school environments where young people feel safe, valued, engaged and purposeful.

Hutchins has a Mindmatters committee, lead by Mr Ken Kingston. The committee works with individual boys and coordinates the whole school implementation of Mindmatters.

Next year we plan to build on the work already done. One exciting initiative will be the new Middle School elective 'Resilience and Coping'.

VET Course: Righting a 16-man life raft during abandon ship drill

Gifted & Talented

Significant staff development was conducted in April to assist all staff to recognise and develop 'gifted and talented' boys. The Centre for Excellence now runs a major program that not only provides for our own boys but also includes a number of sessions for the students in Gateways. The School was fortunate to have the support of Professor Miraca Gross who visited us in April to conduct staff and parent sessions. Hutchins is now providing significant leadership in "Gifted and Talented" education to schools across the state.

Information Technology

Information & Communications Technology (ICT) services, under the capable leadership of Mrs Jill Abell, achieved some significant strategic steps this year. They included upgrading the academic database and server software for assessment and reporting, and an upgrade to the Windows 2000 operating system. The new three tiered websites for the Hutchins Internet and Intranet services celebrate student and staff achievements. Please visit the website. In the support of the teaching and learning programs, major upgrades of hardware and software were timely for the Boarding House, the Centre for Excellence, the Middle School Computer Laboratory and the Centre for Computer Arts/QANTM Cyberschool.

Strong policy support, and anti-virus, copyright and privacy management, is in place for boys' acceptable use of the internet and email services. A wonderful group of student IT leaders provide information and support to boys using the Internet and email services.

A major step forward this year is the increasing access to curriculum courseware materials online from home or school. Global knowledge is increasing exponentially. We need to maintain a strong thrust on information literacy to help boys select appropriate information sources and use them effectively.

VET

This year we increased the number of "Vocational Educational and Training" Certificates available to Year 11 and 12 boys. The very successful Multi-Media Certificate introduced in 2000 by Mr Moore continued into its second year, while Mr Starkey and Mr Kingston introduced the Maritime Certificate.

Maritime Studies comprised two VET Certificate II courses, with knowledge and workplace components. The workplace component required extensive time on and under the water. The coxswain's course consisted of six modules: nautical knowledge (including watch-keeping and navigation), engineering knowledge of inboard and outboard engines and ship systems, shipboard safety including fire-fighting and sea survival, marine radio operation, senior first aid and writing skills. On completion students gain their commercial coxswain's certificate (Cert II National Maritime Operations) recognized by authorities in all states.

Maritime Studies students also qualified for a Cert II Outdoor Recreation by completing modules in open water diving, advanced open water diving and working in the dive industry, through PADI. These certificates are increasingly popular, despite their demanding standards. Examinations for the Maritime Certificate were conducted by Launceston's Maritime College.

Year Nine

The Year 9s entered the Senior School bringing lots of potential talent to the house. Sam Stove, Tom Anderson, Michael Chapman, and Joshua Legg showed their talents as musicians. We welcomed many gifted sportsmen including Louis Alderdice, Michael Andrews, Tim Boyes, Ben Coughlan, Jeremy Hales, Davys House, Danny Toohey, and Jethro Wishink (these all stood out on the soccer field).

Hockey players included Nick Enman, Alex Hunnibell and Alex Green, and it was Ronan Fenton, Richard Hazell, and James Jubb who were impressive on the cricket pitch. John Dale Hové, Simon Foster and Dylan Viney enjoyed the odd game of rugby, as did Peter Eland with volleyball.

Another outstanding sporting person was Lars Becker who was ranked in the top fifteen in Australia for his age group in squash. Gwydion Jones and Ben Sheehan enjoyed art, Matthew Wilson liked the BBQ at Clifton Beach, and Tawin Hengrasme joined us from overseas, halfway through the year.

Year Ten

The Year 10s were involved in a wide range of activities this year, and showed very strong leadership qualities. Jonathon Cook, Simon Enman, Nathan Jones, Jack Madden, Matthew Mulcahy, Guy Crichton, Andrew Dawson, Mark Toppin, Adam Hill, Piers Symons, Robin Abell, Tom Mills, Stuart Arnold, and Harkiran Narulla were all Year 10 leaders at some stage throughout the year.

We need to thank Karl Woisetschlager who volunteered numerous times to clean the Stephens fountain, Nick Summers who helped develop the Stephens website, Cameron Stuart and Andrew Sheppard who helped out at athletics, and David Salter, Coel Bender and Jacob Britten, who were on the Hugo Team.

David Powell was successful in shot put, as was Michael Bowman in the school's production of Lockie Leonard. Jonathan Mison continued his long journey to school each day. Stuart Foley, Coel Bender and Jacob Britten will leave us this year to pursue different education avenues. We wish them well.

Year Eleven

We were expecting big things from our Year 11s this year, as they were going to be important in our battle for Cock House. And we saw many great achievements both on and off the sporting field. As John Morey said to me, "It was a top year!"

In sporting performances, we couldn't go past the many records that Sam Madden broke in the swimming pool and Tom Stove's efforts in the 5000m. Adrian Clark and Stewart Wells were very successful on the water, as much so as Andrew Deane, Sam McMillan and Robert Knight were on the soccer field. Ben Creese was selected for the State U18 hockey team that went to Tamworth for the Nationals, and was also in the State Senior squad.

Off the sporting field, the boys were involved in many activities, including the organization of the Stephens House Festival. This was very successful and thanks must go to Richard Salter, Joel Sorrentino, Sean Le Rossignol, Mark Kramer, Tom Giblin, Monty Hutchins, John Campbell, James Baker, Alex Finniss, Jin Yoon and Hugh Miller for their great organizing.

We saw some great leaders emerging, including Andrew Deane, Tom Stove, Hugh Griggs, and John Cooper, who were all members of the SRC. Those volunteering their time to help on the Hugo Team included James Toppin (coordinator) and Jay Long.

Year Twelve

What a year it has been for the Year 12s! In the performing arts arena, we saw Joe Aston's excellent performance as Minnie the Moocher, David Halvorsen's Cobby 'ad lib' as the set fell, and Felix Blackler's brilliant impersonation of Jerry Springer. The Year 12s were responsible for organizing many 'House Nights', and these were a great success thanks to all the time and effort that Patrick Harradine and Liam Nichols contributed. Rodney Smith was seen enjoying the House Nights, and was also involved with the Year 12 Committee.

Many great sporting performances were seen: they included James Eddington who was very successful with rock climbing; Jeremy Behrakis in the winning Stephens House basketball team; and Pryderi Jones success in his badminton team. Cameron Burgess, Charles Schreuder, Alex Tozer, Blair Browning and Marcus Jones were in the 1st XVIII Football team that made it to the state final; Alasdair Grenness and Harry Pugsley were in the 1st VIII Rowing squad; Joshua Marsh and Ben Taylor were in the 1st V Basketball team; John Andrews (Vice Captain), James Porter and Mark Playle were in the 1st XI Soccer team that won the state final; and David Halvorsen, Felix Blackler, Adam Foster and Mark Playle were in the 1st XV Rugby team that won King of the Mountain and made it to the state final. Our chess team had great success thanks to Matthew Gardner, Hugh Richardson, Chris Wagner, David Roberts, Anthony Kelsall, and Mathew Jackman all giving it their best shot.

Another regular feature of Stephens House this year, were the many chapel and Eucharist services that we had. Thanks to James Troon and Father John for all of the time and effort that they put in with the organization of these services. Finally, we wish all the best to John Andrews and Rowan Ashby who are going on an exchange to University School in America, and Harry Pugsley and Mark Playle who are going on a GAP exchange to England next year.

I would like to thank Mr Starkey, Mr Stacey, tutors, and everyone else involved in ensuring Stephens House enjoyed such a successful year. Congratulations to Thorold House for winning the Cock House, and I would like to wish everyone the best of luck for 2002.

As water rushes down a millrace while the water wheel turns, so another group of students passes through Steves as the end of year comes round. At the beginning of the year I picked up the reins of a warm and friendly family - a McQueen legacy. I was very proud of the participation, co-operation and spirit displayed by all members of the pride that is Stephens. At the K-12 assembly we introduced a young lion cub, Starke (strength OE), symbolising the start of a journey developing courage and strength through trial and challenge. The culmination of this journey is the rampant lion of Stephens' crest, some of which departs metaphorically with each leaver.

The theme for this year's Stephens Festival was the celebration of the five pillars (aspects) of life: spiritual, mental, physical, social and cultural. During the festival the inaugural House Eucharist was celebrated. Other innovations were the Macca's brunch and a formal lunch in the dining hall.

It is axiomatic that the more you put into an activity the more you get out of it. This was most noticeable in the House Executive, the members of which initiated, planned and organised every activity. Watching the individuals that make up Steves is a delight because they are all different. When that difference is mixed in the various activities everyone benefits and seeing the growth and development of those five pillars in each member is very satisfying.

Cock House

If the success of the year can be judged by results, then 2001 was a great year for Thorold, with victory in the Cock House competition. Coming from behind in Term 1, we scored a remarkable eleven out of a possible twelve points in Term 2 to overtake Stephens House, the accustomed winners in recent times. Thorold held on to the lead with solid performances in music and cultural activities in Term 3. From brothers Ayliffe, Peter and Tom, winning their respective age groups in the cross country, to Tom Volkman's 'never say die' last gasp draw in chess, contributions from right throughout the house were essential to the victory, something of which the whole house can be justly proud.

Quality of House - Quality of Life

The Thorold Year 9/10 Tug-o-war prepare for competition

Yes, Thorold was Cock House, but do we judge the year solely on obvious public successes? Last year's message of participation, irrespective of chances of winning became an accepted principle of house activity. I was delighted at the enthusiasm shown towards a huge variety of activities and programs during the year. The house spirit was characterised by students showing concern and care for each other. Excellent role models inspired feelings of trust. It is important that students enjoy being at school and house members have worked towards this goal.

Looking Outwards

House assemblies have been a feature of 2001. Our theme for the assemblies this year was to hear of the experiences of students who have recently left school.

Michael Gozzi's year in the US, Scott Wells' running career, and Jane Calder's work experience in Nepal interested the students towards planning some broadening of their lives.

It is inevitable that it is time to farewell the very good-humoured Year 12 leavers, but this does not make the task less difficult. Always having the best intentions for serving the house, their ideas were innovative and they responded with alacrity to requests for assistance. It is also time to farewell Ben Morrison, Danny Fleming, and Matthew Twin. We wish them well in their various pursuits. During the year Thorold welcomed Beeson Kwok to Year 9.

Thorold tutor Mr Mike Calder went on Long Service Leave, travelling to Nepal, through Europe and the US. In his absence Mr Richard Stacpoole took over his tutor group and his presence was greatly enjoyed by the house. This year

HOUSE CAPTAIN'S REPORT

Aims for the Thorold Year 12 this year were to maintain Thorold's high academic standard, to work on uniting the house across the year groups and to win the Cock House shield.

Fun Days

Hard work from the House Prefects ensured that the annual pizza lunch went off without a hitch, and we were all entertained by the impromptu speaking competition. The K-12 assembly is the only time each year that the entire house is together and it is always a fun event.

Thorold cleans up, Matthew Roach (Year 11) and James Seddon (Year 12)

we farewelled Mr Bradley Wells who has contributed enthusiastically to the house and been a conscientious tutor. We wish him well for the future.

The Stag Man (Liam Chivers) and the Daggly Stags (Greg Irons, Jon Owen and Ben McKay) relax after a triumphant performance at the K-12 assembly

It has been good year for Thorold and I would like to congratulate the House Captain, David Alcock, and the House Prefects for their sincere and committed work for Thorold. Specifically the house lunches and the K-12 House Assembly were well organised occasions and tremendous fun for staff and students. I thank the tutors most sincerely for the hard work, compassion and understanding they have shown towards their tutees. 'Well done, Green House'.

James McLeod

Head of Thorold House

Young Stag, Dimitri Ross, is pleased with the Thorold balloon and chocolate he received at the K-12 Thorold assembly.

This year it was also a great success, with entertainment from 'The Daggy Stags' and a starring role for the Stagman. Thorold Early Learning Centre students much appreciated the bookmarks presented by the senior boys. In Term 2 we had a highly successful House BBQ, when the final of the inter-tutor group touch rugby competition was won by Dr Jim's tutor group for the second year in a row.

Cock House

Thorold was off to a good start in the Cock House competition by winning the swimming. Fortunes fluctuated in Term 1 with Steves taking a commanding lead after winter sports day. A weaker house would have given up, but not Thorold. We came home in Terms 2 and 3 with one of the strongest finishes ever. The drama boys produced an outstanding performance on the night. Thorold lost only one debate throughout both senior (11/12) and junior (9/10) events, but a third in the first section of house music had us worried. Our second place in the rock section gave us outright second in house music, and confirmed our victory in the Cock House competition.

Our win in the Cock House was very pleasing and I'd like to thank the House Prefects, the Head of House, and Mr Servant for helping to make my job a lot easier. I wish Thorold every success for next year.

The Year that Was

Although the mighty Reds did not finish the year in first place, we had some hard fought wins in soccer, basketball, tennis, table tennis, surfing and volleyball. Most boys participated in the cock house competition. Special mention must be made of the outstanding performances that were produced in music and drama. We all cheered the successes and regretted the losses, but supported each other throughout. Our goals off the field of battle were reached and surpassed. The house spirit was fantastic. I was very proud that 100% was given by all the Buckland men that participated this year. It was a year to remember.

Innovations 2001

House Commendation Certificates - this year the House Executive decided to issue commendation certificates to those boys who either perform above and beyond the call of duty or who consistently produce outstanding results in representing the house. Over fifty certificates were issued in 2001.

Andrew Morrisby, Luke Sypkes & Oliver Hallock

Victorious Bucks Basketball team, winners House Basketball 2001

Buckland Blitz - this activity aimed to provide service opportunities to all boys in the house. The major emphasis was on the development of teamwork and communication skills. Help was given to the ELC, the Middle School and the Junior School. The whole house also conducted some "clean up Hutchins" afternoons.

Buckland Mentor Program - tutor group based, this program aimed to mentor younger boys through role modelling and direct academic help sessions during tutor time. Study skills, homework help and general tutoring occurred.

"B" badges - the House Executive issued a small red and white badge with a "B" to boys in recognition of an understanding of what Buckland is all about. The aim was to develop an understanding and pride in the house. This initiative was aimed at Year 9 boys.

Christian Children's Fund - the house has sponsored an overseas child, Isabel Morales, in Ecuador, through this fund. Monies made from BBQs and other events supported donations made by all Buckland boys. We will expand this initiative in.

Finance Committee - this committee was charged with the overseeing of all of the house finances. This includes budgeting forecasts, day-to-day payments and receipts and money collection. Buckland ended the year in a strong financial position. Thanks to Mr Hyland for chairing this committee.

Waratah Newsletter - this year Adrian Kan, the editor, produced four issues of the house newsletter, the Waratah. Each issue contained up to date results and information as well as reports from all captains and activity leaders. A fantastic effort. Adrian finished the year with an excellent leavers' edition.

Waratah Awards - these were granted to Oliver Hallock, Nick Parker, Mike Ingram, Andrew Morrisby and Charlie Pohl. The new prestigious award "The Millhouse Waratah Award" - in recognition of the years of service given to the house by Mr Ian Millhouse - is determined by a vote of the current Year 11s and the Year 12 student who best represents in performance and personality the spirit of Buckland. The 2001 winner was Andrew Morrisby.

Special thanks

The house would not have functioned so well without the excellent leadership given by the House Executive, especially the efforts of Oliver Hallock and Nick Parker. The executive controlled all activities and events that the Reds participated in (from fund-raising for overseas aid to the organization of assemblies and chapel services).

I must thank the House Tutors for all of their excellent work this year. Special mention must go to Mr Tony Herbert who is retiring after many years of excellent service to Buckland. We also farewell Mr Mike Thompson (leaving Hutchins) and also Mr Hyland (moving to the Middle School). Finally, I would like to thank the men of Buckland for their support and continued and committed efforts throughout the year.

House Captain's Report

We knew from the start of this year that School House was not really in the race for Cock House, but the School House spirit has been very much alive. We proved to be the loudest house in sports events and having our House Whip, Richard Webster, for the second year was a great asset to us. He showed his experience and determination to lift house spirit and set a strong example to the younger boys.

Even though Thorold won the Cock House competition, School House have won several activities including chess and debating, cross-country and music to put us securely in third spot and close enough to almost clinch second place. Over the year there were many great personal achievements in the house in many areas from academics to sports. School House will be looking forward to clinching victory in the near future.

School House has a long tradition of "doing your best" and "being involved" helping the house cruise through the year - we never had any hassles in filling up the sports events. 2001 was the second year for cross-age tutor groups and having the Year 12s as big brothers, the Year 9s settled into the house pretty quickly.

The assemblies, activities, fun lunches and chapel services have all been enjoyable occasions and have been highly productive. Thanks to Chris Sonneveld, Marcus Windsor, Josh Tomlin and Matthew Dean for their hard work.

Finally, this year has been a great year for the House and I would like to thank all the tutors and students for their input. The Executive, the backbone of the house, deserves congratulations for another fine year. I thank Mr Webber, the toughest man in the house having the hardest job, for being there for us, as it's not always easy in the first year of a new job. Thanks as well to Ms Schafferius for the help she has given to the house and for her fine work as the Head of House during second term. I wish everyone the best for the future. It has been a privilege to captain the 'mighty' School House. My final word is "keep the mighty School House spirit alive and be involved".

Report from the Head of House

It has been a privilege to join School House and I have spent a year quietly learning the ropes. In this task I have been given lots of help from the entire house, but particularly from Mr Rae, Ms Schafferius and Aup Koohapremkit. Aup has been an outstanding leader in his own quiet, gentle, efficient and deeply honourable way. He kept me informed daily and made certain that every event was fully prepared and catered for. Ms Schafferius is planning personified, and knows the administrative intricacies of the house backwards - School House should be very grateful indeed to her for her fine job and in particular for the part she played as Acting Head of House in Term Two. The house has much to be proud of. There is no event in which we did not compete and compete wholeheartedly. Indeed, we had a number of unexpectedly good results over the whole year. We won the cross country, chess and music competitions and performed creditably in a number of individual sports including orienteering, rowing, sailing, surfing, Australian Rules, badminton, squash and volleyball. This is all testament to what the house can do - even the inaugural 'Egg Cup' egg-throwing contest which we won against Bucks showed that we are a house that performs well because of the depth of participation. As a newcomer I was delighted to find so many willing participants who were not only prepared to 'have a go' but also ready to step in when others could not meet their commitments because of injury or illness. School is clearly a house that recognizes that taking part is just as significant as winning.

An impressive feature of School House is its sense of service and this was nowhere better shown than in our efforts in the

Midlands. Summer bushfires had burned the properties of several members of the house - this gave us a chance as a house to help. We worked with girls and staff from Fahan School to help replace a kilometre and a half of damaged fence, then later in the year to replant a windbreak of trees

Activities Night

running between two properties. Over twenty boys in all were involved and it gave them a unique chance to work with members of the wider Hutchins community, to learn about hardship and to see how it can be alleviated. Next year,

George Papoutsakis and Aup Koohapremkit serve it up with the help of Mrs Maria Weeding, the mother of two of our boys, we hope to do a lot more treeplanting whilst maintaining our links with the rural community. In the city, we hope to make a larger financial contribution to the Salvation Army.

The state of health of any house is dictated by its Executive. Ours met weekly to plan such things as Assemblies, Activities Nights, 'Macca's Lunches', the Fair and more besides. It has been a busy year and its success and enjoyment can be largely put down to the energy, enthusiasm and sheer hard work of the Prefects. Whoever said 'actions speak louder than words' knew what he was talking about.

No house could operate without its tutors and those in School form a wonderful team. I thank them for the variety of activities they have provided for their boys and in particular for the care and concern they have shown for them. Unfortunately two of the tutors leave us at year's end - Mr Conacher takes up a new position in the Middle School and Mrs McQuilkin leaves Hutchins after many years of faithful service. 'Granny', as she is affectionately known, deserves her reputation as a thorough, meticulous, caring and no-nonsense teacher who has set her students the very highest of standards. She is the School's full time 'part-timer' who spends countless hours trying to help her students to do the best that they are capable of. We will sorely miss her expertise, her iron hand set firmly in its velvet glove, her educational philosophy based on a wisdom gained from her own vast experience and her deeply compassionate nature. School House will be very much the poorer for her leaving - we wish her the happiest of retirements.

There are moves afoot for something new and exciting in Chapel! It's not another leadlight window (although plans are underway). Neither is it a motorised screen (we've just got a new one). It's a painting of naked people on the ceiling! We need our minds directed to "things above", and this seems the perfect way to do it. Fahan realised this long ago, and, in their hall, a canvassed bevy of the unclad look down on weekly worship.

What about this Michelangelo number from the Sistine Chapel painted on the ceiling of our sacred site? (I'm talking Chapel, not tuckshop, and anyway the War Memorial Oval has no ceiling!) Visitors would flock in and look up, and rejoice greatly, especially when they think of the savings – they could be paying thousands more in airfares to see something similar but less fresh!

The Creation of Adam by Michelangelo

I thought this particular picture would be suitable for the following reasons:

First, it's a blokey kind of painting. Blokey to all but the most severely short-sighted! Chapel is not often thought of as a blokey kind of thing. Being reflective is, as far as I know, not a by-product of testosterone; singing is embarrassing to the insecure; and a message of love, forgiveness and grace is hard to take after a lunchtime tearing around the fields like cave-men and is hardly what blokes should be doing – well, that's the myth. Our role as educators of young men is to do what we can to correct this short-sightedness among the boys, so that they come to be aware of the "things above"; aware of God's calling on their lives; and aware of what it means to be real men in his service.

Second, this painting could be seen as a pep-talk by the coach to a member of the team. The coach in this instance is God who says – "don't give up; show the world what the two of us can do together as a team". The Christian life is not for the faint-hearted, but for those with the same staying power we admire in sport. Said the writer of the Letter to the Hebrews: "lift your drooping hands, and strengthen your weak knees...let us run with perseverance the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the pioneer and perfecter of our faith".

Third, I could look at this painting and be reminded of the many times at this School that I have seen people reaching out to help others. This painting would remind me of the friends who helped each other on the recent Year 9 camp. I went with a group bushwalking up Adamson's Peak. The going was rough, steep, and slippery, and I witnessed two lads walking on parallel and very slippery logs spontaneously putting a hand out to each other, and arriving at the other side hand-in-hand and safe. We need real men in this world who can acknowledge their vulnerability, and who can reach out to others without embarrassment.

Fourth, this painting could be a classroom scene. Adam, on the left, is lethargic - his arm rests on his knee and it's a feeble finger that he dangles out. God (white-haired teacher, on the right, and properly dressed!) reaches out with desire to inspire...and the hope is that they connect!! This mirrors what needs to happen in our Chapel, and in our lives of faith. We need to reach out to the God who reaches out to us. We have a God who wants to touch our lives, and change us with divine and inspiring life.

Jesus gave a message to the world to believe, because only in believing and following in his steps would people find life. Only in reaching out our hand to God's hand will we discover life in all its fullness.

The promise of God's touch and God's life is good for all people - even for little blokes who run round like cave-men, and who look for naked people on Chapel ceilings.

The Director's Report

The boarding community has enjoyed another very successful year. In so many fields members of the boarding community participated with vigour and commitment and experienced real success. Amongst others achievements members of the boarding community secured:

- The Southern Independent Schools Debating Premiership
- The University of Tasmania Debating
- Union Parliamentary Debating Prize
- Selection to the National United Nations Youth Forum
- Selection to the International United Nations Youth Forum
- A Premiership with the First XI Hockey
- A Premiership with the First XI Soccer
- A Premiership with the Under 14 Sandy Bay Lions XVIII
- A Grand Final with the First XVIII
- A Grand Final with the First XV
- A Grand Final with the First Water Polo
- The Headmaster's award for the Most Impressive Coxswain.

Such a list does not include Speech Night honours and awards. It has also been a great source of pride that the community has hosted three prefects – Guy Ellis (Captain of Burbury House), Mark Playle (Captain of Stephens House), Edward Webster (Academic Prefect) – as well as a Thorold House Prefect and Joint School Whip (Patrick Durkin) and Chairman of the School Tribunal (Danial Abdul-Rahman). It has been a truly enterprising and engaged community.

Yoshi Nakagama

The refurbishment of the boarding house continues apace. Dorm 2, along with the senior television room, was refurbished this year. Dorm 1 and the upper new wing are in the process of being refurbished and will be ready for occupation at the start of 2002. A networked computer facility was installed at the start of 2001. This facility will be extended to nine computers by the start of 2002. The television room was redecorated via a combination of inputs: the Burbury House Support Group purchased the paints and the students provided the labour. It was a wonderful initiative and, along with the curtains and cushions provided by the Burbury House Support Group, has contributed substantially to the students' comfort.

Mrs Sarah Nicholas concluded her term as President of the Burbury House Support Group. Mrs Pip Allwright was elected President of the Support Group and Mrs Anne Downie was elected Secretary. Mrs Sue Ellis was elected the Treasurer of the Support Group. The community owes a large debt of thanks for the efforts of each of the outgoing office holders, in particular Mrs Sarah Nicholas and Mrs Stephanie Burbury.

Over the last few years the community has had the benefit of a very skilled and committed staff. Their contribution has been exemplary. Mr Jamie Roberts, who was appointed at the start of the year, left us in Term 3 to travel throughout Europe. Mr Richard Stacpoole, who has been with us for two years, leaves to pursue further studies in Education in Melbourne. Mr Tim Whelan, who has been a member of the community for three years, leaves in order to conclude his Honours studies in Education. Mr Brad Wells, a staff member for two years, leaves to take up a senior position at Scotch College in Melbourne. Each of them, along with the remaining staff – Mr Hyland and Mr Warner – have provided outstanding service to the community. Through their tuition, their pastoral support, their patience and enthusiasm, their good humour, their professionalism and their commitment, they have provided excellent role models for the young men of the community and outstanding service to the school.

Burbury House Captain's Report

Contrary to popular opinion, the boarding house is a mixed group of people who come from the country, city and overseas. Utes and four wheelers still get their fair share of discussion, but at the moment we have fifty-three people from Year 4 to 12, nineteen of which are overseas students from mainland China, Thailand, Japan, Malaysia, Hong Kong, New Zealand and Great Britain.

The boarders enjoy access to a huge range of resources – an eight-ball table, table tennis table, access to the gymnasium and weights room, tennis court, swimming pool, cable television, a piano, networked computer access – which keep them occupied.

Colin Brain

We have had a large mix of people in sporting, academic and cultural areas, with members of the first teams in football, hockey, rugby, soccer, rowing as well as a representative in the state rugby team. We have members in debating teams, poetry and prose contestants, drama cast and crew, musicians as well as the best eight-ball player in the school. The key point is to get involved and do your best and you also have a lot of fun along the way.

The remarkable achievements in the boarding house this year are a result of being in a tight community on school grounds, having a compulsory two hour prep for homework each night, being fed some of the finest food in the state (most of the time) and overall having people that help you along the way.

The Adventure Club

Activities and expeditions ensured a busy year for the Hutchins Adventure Club: climbing trips to the Launceston Gorge and the Whitewater Wall in the Freycinet National Park; kayaking trips; bike riding on Bruny Island; a navigation weekend on the East Coast; and, the major walk this year, a trip to the Walls of Jerusalem.

Boys (and girls from Collegiate School) may use these trips for the "expedition" section of the Duke of Edinburgh's Award.

The trip were led by Josh Tomlin, Jimmy Walsh and me, under the watchful eye of Mr Andrew Stewart. Thanks must go to Mr Stewart who gives up his time so that we can have wonderful experiences on these trips in this great state of ours.

Bruny Island Cycling Trip

With a number of participants pulling out at the last minute, we didn't need the bus and instead took "Pansy", Mr Stewart's car. After the ferry trip from Kettering to Bruny Island, and a short drive, we began the first ride of the day. On the track out to Mars Bluff, at the north end of Neck Beach, we found out how hard it was to ride through sand at high speed.

We then drove to the Cape Bruny Lighthouse, where we looked at the light-house before walking down to the water at Courts Bay. We drove for another five minutes before the start of our next ride – we were going to attempt to ride the Labillardiere Peninsula.

The ride proved more of a challenge than we expected. The first part of this track was deceiving. The track turned from slightly uphill and slightly damp to very steep and muddy. When we reached a plateau the puddles got deeper and we were trying to ride through puddles well above our axles. We ran out of water half-way around the five-hour trip, and had to get water out of a muddy, murky stream.

The highlight of this ride was watching Jimmy test how deep the puddles were for us, and watching Claire going down the hill without her feet on the pedals. One of the highlights for the others was watching me test the depth of one of the puddles, not being able to get my feet out of my pedals, falling into a deep puddle and getting very wet.

That night we stayed in Adventure Bay and enjoyed the 20-cent showers, each spending about one dollar to wash off the mud that had been a second skin for the past few hours.

The next morning after a bit of a sleep-in (about 8 o'clock) we went for a walk along Adventure Bay beach and the area surrounding the caravan park in search of tracks to get muddy. We found a track that led out to Grass Point, with a view of Penguin Island and Fluted Cape (a sea-kayaking destination last year). The track proved to be a challenge to all of us as it was very muddy. The final 200 metres we rode about three times to see how muddy we could get our bikes and ourselves. Mr Stewart was the only one not to do this. He has more brains than we do.

When we got back to Adventure Bay, despite snow on Mt Mangana (at 571m the highest on Bruny Island), we went for a swim in the crystal-clear, inviting water of the bay – yes, it was cold. We went back to the showers to warm up, spending even more money.

We then drove to the top of Mt Mangana and walked to the trig station where we could see the snow-capped mountains of the South-West. After returning to the car, we unpacked the bikes and rode down the other side of the mountain. With speeds in excess of 65 kms/hr this was the fastest section of the trip. We rode to Alonnah, where we put the bikes in the back of the trailer for the last time.

With school the next day, we had to come home – another few days would have been nice. The group consisted of Jimmy (puddle tester) Walsh, Claire (feet of the pedals) Hewer, Mr (wiser than all of us) Stewart, and myself (can't get feet out of the pedals). Thanks to Mr Stewart for coming on this trip with us, and keeping us from injuring ourselves too much!

Kayaking & Climbing

In mid-June, Jimmy Walsh, Nick Enman, Simon Enman, Hugh Thompson, Mr Stewart and I climbed for two days at the North Esk River and the Launceston Gorge, and kayaked on the South Esk River at Hadspen. Although the climbing was challenging, and the water was freezing, the trip was very educational for me. I learnt many skills, many of which have not been taught at Collegiate.

My first experience of shopping with guys occurred at a supermarket in Launceston, whilst Mr Stewart ate tea. We went in determined to buy something to eat, yet spent most of the time wandering through aisles doing nothing. Finally we left, having bought some vegetables and a Red Eye.

We were lucky enough to stay with Jimmy's cousins out in Lilydale. Every night, after cooking on our stoves outside, we'd have bonfires. We'd walk back late, and sleep in the roof of their house. We'd leave early in the mornings, and get straight into climbing or kayaking.

Another new experience for me was brushing my teeth in the bus. The boys demonstrated how to spit out the window without hitting the windows. Needless to say, our next stop was the service station, where I quickly made use of the window cleaners provided.

This was more a holiday than a camp. I always have a fantastic time on the Hutchins trips. There are so many things I haven't written about, like spending an hour on a cliff and then having to be rescued, and trolley riding in the supermarket car park. I'd recommend these trips to anyone no matter what your ability. Thank you Mr Stewart for making it all possible.

Climbing Camp

Nine keen adventurers gathered in the early hours of Monday 16 April, prepared for a four-day adventure. The trip was a climbing camp held at Freycinet National Park, on Tasmania's East Coast.

The sign "4WD vehicles only", at the entrance to the access road, did little to dissuade Mr Stewart, who drove the bus and trailer, down the pot-holed and heavily eroded remains of the gravel road. The road brought us to the campsite, which would be our home for the next four days. Much to our surprise the campsites were filled with people also enjoying their Easter breaks.

Our campsite was situated in an open forest about 250m away from the cliff top and was dotted with eucalypts, casuarinas and clumps of native grasses. We set up our tents where we could and unpacked our gear.

That afternoon we headed down to Lassies Wall, a granite cliff which rises 20-30 metres above the sea. This wall offers a variety of superb rock climbing, ranging from beginner routes to more challenging technical routes. The afternoon quickly slipped away as we got back into the habit of climbing outdoors.

We woke to a magnificent day on Tuesday and were relieved to find that none of our food had been eaten by possums or the infamous quoll. After a hearty breakfast of pancakes, we were back down to Lassies Wall ready for another day of hardcore rock climbing. We were fortunate enough to be blessed with fine weather for the entire camp and we were able to climb everyday.

Highlights of the camp included: petrol stove priming competition, burning incense, the legendary instant continental pasta meals (enough to make anybody sick), drinking Bundy (ginger beer), midnight walks to Bluestone Bay and sleeping under the stars.

Thanks to Mr Stewart for organising and supervising the trip and also to Pak Wilson for providing some light entertainment between climbs.

Cheyne Range Walk

The year 10 (and above) walk this year took place in the Cheyne Range west of Mt Rufus, in the Wild Rivers National Park. It is a difficult area to access, so is rarely visited.

The group included Josh Tomlin, John Owen, James Young (our new gappie from Swainby, North Yorkshire), Daniel Bray (a new recruit from Bribie Island, Qld), Simon Enman, Nick (Grug) Perndt, Nick Summers, old boy Peter Middleton (now working as a professional walks tour guide), Jenny Calder, Kristen Raw, Claire Hewer and assistant staff member Andrew Davey, who also helped out on last year's walk to Frenchman's Cap.

The walk was a classic SW trek with all the scrub the group could handle and precipitous slopes and river crossings interspersed with Fagus and magnificent Pencil Pine and King Billy Pine stands around strings of tiny tarns.

Plateau Walk

Lake Olive to Lake Ball and return
3 - 7 January 2001

The first things I think of when I recall memories of this walk are of rain, cold, walking through squashy sphagnum moss and mist which stopped us seeing very far ahead and made navigation very hard for us.

The group, led by Josh Tomlin, included myself, my brother Simon Enman, Nic Perndt (Grug), Jimmy Walsh, Jon Owen, Michael Ingram, Claire Hewer (Collegiate), Puck Wilson, Mr Stewart, and Kerry Rose. Unfortunately, Kate from Collegiate had to leave on the first day due to illness.

Walking was challenging because of the dense scrub and we often disappeared up to our knees in the sphagnum moss and underground streams. While we were there, the night-time temperatures went down to minus 6 degrees C! We woke up to find frozen condensation on the inside of our tent. Outside, all the puddles and tarns were frozen over.

Nick Perndt leading on Lassie's Wall at Freycinet

Due to illness, we reached the base of the Walls of Jerusalem a day late and arrived in the early evening. Michael set up his tent on a rock and a bush much to everyone's amusement. The next morning, we woke to fog and light drizzle that soon turned into heavy rain. This ruined our chances of going to see the Walls.

Due to this, we set off home earlier than planned. We backtracked until we found a suitable campsite, crossing a raging river to get there. Because it was still raining, we went to bed at 5 pm (this was the normal bedtime during the walk) and we had to cook in our tents.

Next morning, it was still raining heavily, and we set off for the bus on the final leg of our epic journey. Most of us were dripping wet already, so we decided that puddles on the track were a challenge to go straight through! We were pleased to change into dry clothes when we got back to the bus.

We would all like to thank Mr Stewart for organising this trip for us.

Sail Training

The training took a very different tack this year. The AYF courses were incorporated in the Maritime Studies course for Years 11 and 12. Ten students and three staff took part in the course, which was quite extensive. Not only did they learn to handle a yacht under sail and power, but they also qualified for their powerboat licence on the School's runabout and gained their engineering accreditation on inboard and outboard engines.

Drew Latham, Stewart Wells and Jonathon de Hoog being assessed for Competent Crew Certificate

Jonathon de Hoog hoisted to safety in helicopter drill, while Julian Balcombe awaits his turn

Caleb Lang and Nick Parker were our crack engineers, although Nick had trouble staying onboard the runabout. Part of the certificate was the mandatory occupational health and safety module for all sea-going personnel - it includes fire-fighting and sea survival.

Jonathon de Hoog achieved the highest score in the Marine Radiotelephone Operators Certificate of Proficiency exam, conducted by the RYCT. The improvised eye dressing (using a plastic funnel) applied to Derek Emerton during the Workplace Level II First Aid course would have made a memorable photograph. A prize for the most surprised student should go to Ryan Perry, a dedicated fisherman and proficient powerboat operator, when he was told he had passed the Competent Crew yacht practical - having not sailed before starting this course.

The School's AYF instructors, Mr Kingston (diving), Mr Stewart (engineering) and Mr Starkey (nautical), taught most of the course while specialists came in for first aid, radio, fire fighting and survival.

In 2003 the AYF courses will again be open to all students from Years 5 to 12.

Drama Report

The Drama Department is never idle. Moving from one production into the next has become the norm. Our first production was Cosi by Louis Nowra performed by the 11/12 drama class. Year 9 and 10 boys, together with some Collegiate volunteers, performed Lockie Leonard by Tim Winton. The Year 8 Music and Drama class produced Sheik Rattle & Roll and finally the Year 7s performed two short plays which they toured to schools around the state. House Drama saw a change in venue. We performed to a full house in the Auditorium with great success. We saw the continuation of the popular Middle School House Theatre Sports Comp. Two new events were staged: Thursday Night Live and Middle School House Drama. Finally the SPA Drama class has had a busy year developing their talents, having performed a variety of styles to various audiences.

Radio Play

Drama students were treated to some excellent and varied live performances, both professional and amateur. The Salamanca Theatre Company performed their touring production Solitude: Fashion Tips for Misery. Other performances included Generations by Tasdance and The Assembly Women at Collegiate school.

This year we welcomed Mr Ashleigh Huxtable, who took over the teaching of Years 7 to 10 Drama classes. It is also with sadness that we now say farewell to Ashleigh as he will be travelling overseas. I wish to thank him for his creativity and professionalism and wish him luck in his future endeavours.

Lockie Leonard – Human Torpedo

Production by Year 9/10

A teenager's story... Lockie has arrived in town, with his surfboard and a sharp wit, but no one wants to know the city boy whose dad is the new cop. Things all change when he starts going out with Vicki Streeton, the girl of his dreams. But the course of true love never runs smooth, and soon Lockie is questioning how fast he wants to grow up anyway... Unlocking the mysteries of life proves tougher than riding the biggest wave.

July 18 –20 was the culmination of hard work and dedication for 35 talented students who formed the cast, band and crew of this year's Year 9/10 production. The play deals with some extremely relevant teenage issues in a humorous but intelligent manner. The story of Lockie, played by Jon Cook (Year 10) & Nick Graney (Year 9), and his girlfriend Vicki, played by Jo Winter and Sam Lane (Year 10), also incorporates a host of unusual teachers, respective families and peers. A keen cast, supplemented by St Michael's Collegiate students, had been rehearsing solidly since Easter, joined this term by an enthusiastic rock band, interpreting the script and adding a life and spirit uniquely their own.

Excitement, nerves and adrenalin mixed as the performance week approached. The entire ensemble managed to draw on a reserve of energy as weariness and sickness began to set in. The entire Hutchins Middle School were treated to the first performance, an excellent warm-up for that evening's opening night. High schools from around Hobart were invited to a free matinee on Thursday, attracting an appreciative audience of 300 students. Word had spread about the show's entertainment value, energy and humour, with Thursday and Friday's evening performances attracting very large and vocal audiences.

Lockie Leonard – Human Torpedo was originally written by Tim Winton and then adapted for the stage by Paige Gibbs. The novel is often studied in lower high school, being noted for its male role models and attention to teenage issues. Congratulations must be extended to the entire cast, band, crew and their understanding families on a very successful season.

Sheik, Rattle & Roll

Production by Year 8

Welcome to the timeless adventure of the desert sands, the romance of lovers trapped under the desert moon and the action of a thousand desert warriors locked in ancient

Arabian combat. Outrageous acting and riotous music entertained a responsive audience as the Year 8 Music and Production class combined to tackle the musical Sheik, Rattle and Roll. Both actors and musicians gained an invaluable insight into the nature of rehearsing, refining and presenting a production. Some excellent performances were given by Ian Mitchell, Erik Pohl, Alex Dance, Joe Werner-Hickey, James Cazaly, Nick Verhelst, Ramanan Daniel, Matthew Bradley, Andrew Carolan and Richard Bowman.

The Pussycat Gang & There's A Ghost In The Basement, M'Lord

Production by Year 7

In early October around twenty Year 7 students staged their annual production, giving an admirable performance of two plays: The Pussycat Gang (Ian McQueen) and There's A Ghost In The Basement, M'Lord (Alan McKay).

Both plays were very entertaining to all who attended and the boys enjoyed the portrayal of some very 'shady' and 'shadowy' characters. A lot of time and effort was put into the rehearsals but in the end it was worth the sacrifice. The success of the production carried over when a number of boys took it on tour, performing to a number of schools on the east coast and in Launceston, providing some excellent entertainment to children in Years 3 - 6.

Thursday Night Live

Drama Studio, 11th October

There are many boys who have shown a high level of achievement this year in the Performing Arts. In response to this it was decided that the boys needed an event in which they could display these skills. Thursday Night Live gave students the opportunity to present pieces that they had been working on in class time and which would not otherwise have been seen in a public performance. Students presented a wide range of performances including engaging monologues, comedic duologues, atmospheric acoustic sets, vocal pieces and slapstick mask work. The result was a variety of high quality performances that were enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. It was refreshing to see both music and drama students sharing their work in the one setting.

Thursday Night Live

MUSIC

“I want the whole school to sing!”

We did, we do, and so may it continue. . .

It is with a degree of sadness that I write, as in 2002 I will only be teaching part-time at Hutchins as I have been appointed to the position of lecturer in charge of contemporary music at the Tasmanian Conservatorium.

I was appointed Head of Performing Arts 12 years ago and I have seen enormous changes both in music and education during this time, some good, some not so good. Ultimately though, the ‘proof is in the pudding’ as my father would often say: as I look around I see boys actively engaged and involved with music making of such a variety of genres and demonstrating, more often than not, unbelievable talent and a musical maturity beyond their years, I am even more convinced of the importance of keeping music available and accessible to as many kids as possible through whatever medium works best. Music enriches all our lives, and needs to be at the forefront of any comprehensive educational philosophy and practice. A famous (or should it be infamous) ex-Headmaster once demanded of me, “I want the whole school to sing!” We did, we do, and so may it continue.

As is usually the case, 2001 has been an exciting year for all our various ensembles. Mr Leonard established the concert band in Term 1, which has given our developing brass players and rhythm sections an excellent opportunity to further their playing skills. Mrs Dennis continues to have tremendous success with the string ensemble, trios and quartets throughout the School. The boys play for semi-professional gigs as well as school concerts, but have also had great success in the various eisteddfods this year. Scott Cashion’s work with reeds and particularly the sax quartet has been stunning as always, and our large peripatetic staff continue to inspire and encourage their students to strive for their very best.

The Chapel Choir continues to go from strength to strength and have this year produced their third CD – To Be A Light. They will again tour England next year, and are making a unique contribution to the musical and spiritual life of not only the School, but for the Tasmanian community as a whole. Mr Steven Morris’ continued contribution to the ongoing development of this ensemble is quite remarkable and always of the highest musical standard.

Mrs Short is legendary in the Junior School. An article such as this could never do justice to her remarkable devotion to the boys and their music. Choirs, orchestras, small and large wind and brass ensembles, charity, church and performances for the elderly, concerts of the both the highest quality and with the involvement of every child in one way or another – she is a rare gem indeed.

Major Events

The Hutchins Collegiate Concert was held in the wonderful new Federation Concert Hall and featured some of the best musical performances that one could wish to see, including the Tasmanian premiere of David Fanshawe’s African Sanctus, complete with African chant and a huge percussion section! Chapel choir, big band and the jazz trio were also highlights in a concert that was very exciting and a great success. The first School of Performing Arts concert for 2001 was held on the 24th May, and featured the amazing talents of some of our best musicians, dramatists and dancers. Both the SPA concerts this year have highlighted some of the prodigious talent that exists within the performing arts at Hutchins and Collegiate. Our jazz trio, string and sax quartets have developed at an astonishing rate during this year and have become wonderful ambassadors for the school.

We had a great rock band compete in the open section of the Rock Challenge this year for the first time and although unplaced, Mr No Pants earned the admiration and support of everyone present with a spirited and musical performance. The night was unbelievably loud and not for the faint-hearted, but I feel sure it will become an annual event for us into the future.

House music this year was marked by the highest musical standard that I can remember. This is one of my favourite events as it is really very student-centred and puts a great deal of the responsibility for organisation, preparation and musicianship on the boy’s shoulders. All the boys did a fantastic job, performing to a most appreciative, if somewhat biased, audience.

We had a visit from the Cincinnati Junior Strings in July, and they joined with our own string players for a wonderful concert. CJS are attached to the Ohio State University and attract the best string players in the state. They tour somewhere in the world every year, and we all made some great new friends and will hopefully continue this relationship into the future.

There were two other musical events that were particularly special this year. Firstly, there was Jazz in the Quad, which featured the talents of the best jazz musicians in Tasmania including Ian Pearce and Maria Lurighi, some of our wonderfully talented peripatetic staff, and our own sensational big band. The choir support group did a superb job with the catering, and the magical lighting and (new!) sound system all combined to make one of the most professional, musical and memorable concert evenings that I have experienced at Hutchins. I am particularly proud of our Big Band and all that they have achieved in the last 12 years and wish them every success for their future.

The second special event was a little more ‘low key’, but the visit of the Australian String Quartet in November was like a precious jewel! Internationally renowned cellist and Hutchins old boy Lei Wei Chin performed with them in a fantastic concert that followed a day of master-classes with our best string players. To be able to attract a musical ensemble of this calibre to perform here at Hutchins was indeed a credit to the school, the foundation and the quality of music that exists here and that now has a significant and well-earned reputation throughout this state and mainland Australia.

Finally I would like to pay tribute to Michelle Weeding and Steve Hickey, co-ordinators of drama and art respectively and the other most important two thirds of the faculty. I wish to publicly acknowledge and praise their professionalism and giftedness in their own areas of expertise. Our combined efforts with Little Shop of Horrors (Michelle with the lions share!) will live in my memory for a long time. Together, we produced a musical not soon to be forgotten in Hobart – or, more importantly, not forgotten by the actors, singers, musicians and crew.

The past twelve years have been a lot of things – frantic, fun, difficult, exciting, challenging, rewarding, tiring, infuriating, fulfilling...all of these and more, in varying degrees and at different times, although always more positive than not. Finally, to the principals, my many friends and colleagues, to all the boys and the extended and extensive Hutchins family, thank you. Your gift of friendship, overwhelming support and love will remain with me and be a part of me always.

Literary & Debating Society

Thirteen teams of Hutchins' finest young speakers from Years 7 to 12 ensured the season was destined to reach the greatest of heights. This came to fruition with a crushing victory for the Senior B debating team, consisting of Chris Jones, James Oxley, Alex Finnis and Liam Coyle, over Guilford Young College in the final of the Southern Independent Schools Debating Competition. This was followed brilliantly by the Intermediate boys, who managed to overcome Fahan in a close final. Joseph Aston and Edward Webster formed part of a team in the inaugural State Parliamentary Shield Debating Competition, and after taking a clean sweep of the tournament overcame the Scotch Oakburn team to bring the trophy home for Hutchins.

But all teams this year experienced great success, including the senior Tasmanian debating Union team, consisting of Rowan Ashby, Greg Irons, Tim Watters and David Millington, who showed great talent in an unfamiliar debating format. With three trophies it was a pleasing end to the season.

Public Speaking, Poetry and Prose

In public speaking, the highlight was David Millington's success as statewide runner-up in the Rotary Public Speaking Competition. The Poetry & Prose in Performance evenings were again most entertaining, and congratulations to Matthew Mulcahy for winning the Intermediate section and Tom Stove for winning the Senior section.

More Debates

The Anniversary Debates were another highlight and largely overcame problems of previous years: the Old Boys came away with a win against the students, and after a rather dubious decision in the Staff vs Students Debate the teachers stole the day. The Greater Debate against Collegiate was again an hilarious and most entertaining evening with Tim Green and David Halvorsen asserting Hutchins' dominance. Finally, House Debating involved more boys than ever, and Thorold took victory in a huge event.

Undoubtedly, the success achieved in 2001 resulted from hard work behind the scenes. On behalf of all boys in the society I would like to thank all coaches who brought our teams up to winning standards, the adjudicators who helped the season run so smoothly, and especially Mrs Cook for her tireless efforts in a memorable year.

2001 proved to be an exciting and highly successful season for the Hutchins Boat Club. In addition to some great successes on the water, a strong sense of pride infused the shed all year, with coaches, parents, friends and supporters all contributing to a strong club dedicated to the true spirit of competition and sportsmanship.

The First VIII began their demanding training program early with Mr Roach and Mr Wells, and competed in some pennant regattas and the Royal Hobart regatta. As an entirely new and light crew confronted with some strong competition, it was clear that the challenge was before them. They went on to secure one win and several seconds, gradually improving, with the hope of catching Friends in the final race of the season - The Head of the River. Unfortunately, it was not to be, with the crew crossing the line fourth. Nonetheless, they had come a long way, maturing into fine young men who always gave their best.

In the junior crews we had much success, once again showing that Hutchins has the greatest depth of any school in boys' rowing. Our Under 14 and Under 15 quads dominated all season culminating with first division wins in the Head of the River. Indeed, the under 15 first division quad was undefeated all season. This depth was further demonstrated with wins in many single and double events, giving Hutchins the underage aggregate shields for the North West Schools and Tasmanian Schools Championships.

The Under 16 eight had an ongoing tussle with Friends, managing to win the Southern Schools and Southern Head but not the Tasmanian School Championships. The battle lines were drawn for the Head of the River. To the jubilation of their coach, John Clennett, and the crowd on the banks of Lake Barrington, they won in a time of 4.37 minutes.

After celebrating the Club's many successes, work was soon afoot on reinvigorating the shed and all the equipment. Two new boats were purchased ('Tim Fish' and 'John Clennett'); the whole fleet of boats was restored and, in some cases, rebuilt; two new rowing machines were purchased; the shed was renovated; and new protocols introduced to produce a more efficient and well-resourced rowing club. Thanks must go to the Master-in-charge, Brad Wells; the boatman, Ted McCulloch; the coaches; the supporters and the many other people who made 2001 a year to remember.

Most Improved:	Richard Ellis
Best Utility Player:	Matthew Drury
Best First Year Player:	Josh Lambert
The "Chris Rae" Award:	Cameron Burgess
The "Luke Watchorn" Award:	Guy Ellis
Most Consistent:	Alex Tozer
Best Player First XVIII versus Old Boys:	Marcus Windsor

Ryan Perry & Richard Webster loom towards an opponent in possession

The First XVIII enjoyed another very successful season. They secured dual victories over Scotch Oakburn College and Launceston Church Grammar School as well as splitting the preliminary rounds with St Patrick's College. Guilford Young College was a formidable opponent and defeated the First XVIII in both rostered matches.

In what was arguably the highlight of the season, the First XVIII played off against St Patrick's College for a position in the Grand Final. The match was a superb victory for the team. The following week's Grand Final provided no such joy. In what were very challenging conditions – rain, sleet and snow – the team was unable to reproduce the form of the previous week and had to content themselves with the runner-up position.

In what was another season highlight, the team then travelled to Melbourne to play Trinity Grammar in what has become a yearly fixture. It was a great trip and the victory helped salve the wounds of the week before.

Mr John Donovan concluded a two year stint as manager of the First XVIII. His contribution in this capacity has been immense. He was also the architect and administrator of the Melbourne tour. Once again, his skit at the Presentation Dinner provided a season highlight. His service to the sport over many years has been outstanding.

The Sandy Bay Lions

The under age squads enjoyed a very successful season. Participation, skill development and fun remain the central objectives of the football program at underage level. The formation of the Sandy Bay Lions has clearly furthered these objectives.

The teams enjoyed a degree of success in their rosters quite unprecedented for either the school or the Sandy Bay club. The synergy achieved is a tribute to the efforts of Mr Ian Anderson, the President of the Sandy Bay Lions, and all committee members and officials of the club.

Richard Ellis gets his kick away despite the pressure

U17s coached by Grant Jackson & Andrew Jones

The Under 17 team enjoyed a very successful year, progressing into the preliminary final of their rostered competition. Amongst the best players for the team were Jay Long and John Morey. Special tribute must be paid to Mr Grant Jackson. He has served the school and the club for the last six years as a coach and mentor for members of the squad. His contribution has been outstanding and we are very much indebted for his efforts.

U15s coached by John Barwick

The Under 15 team continued their development securing five wins for the season including a hard fought victory over St Virgils. Best players for the team were Isaac Bennet, Ronan Fenton, James Jubb and Ben Fergusson. The team finished one win short of a finals position. The key feature was the growth of the squad as a unit. With continued work they will be a formidable outfit in years to come.

U14s coached by Phil Kingston

The Under 14 squad enjoyed a stellar season, securing the STJFL premiership. This was a remarkable achievement and something of which the team, the club and the school can feel very proud. In what is an exceptional squad, stand out players include Tom Friend, Robert Sim, Scott Nichols, James Faulkner, Robert Jubb, Mathew Creese, Michael Egan and Tyson Wills, each of whom received merit awards. Their coach Phil Kingston is to be congratulated upon forming such a formidable squad over the last two years. The greatest challenge in future years will be to maintain the momentum.

U13s coached by Tony Bayles

The Under 13 team enjoyed a hugely successful season. They progressed to the Grand Final of their STJFL roster. This was a great achievement in itself. Unfortunately they met a stronger team on the day. Merit awards were received by Mark Fenton, Joel Edwards, Zac Johnson, Jason Nichols, Nick Jones, Tom Harvey and Nick Andrewartha whose skill and commitment to their sport was exemplary. Each of the members of the squad can feel very proud of their achievement. They now have a clearer understanding of what is required to succeed at the highest level.

Badminton

First IV:

Mr P Starkey (Coach), Mark Jessen, Michael Ingram, Anthony Kelsall, Alex Tozer (Captain), Michael Chapman

Open

The First IV had a successful season, winning almost all of their matches. Having been beaten by Friends in the semi-final we faced them in a thrilling final. The premiership came down to the last doubles match, which we needed to win by six points. We won the match by eight to retain the trophy for another year. As the most successful team for 2001, the First IV also received The Hutchins Badminton Shield.

In the Southern Schools Championships, Michael Chapman won the Year 9 singles, doubles and mixed doubles events. Alex and Anthony were College Boys Doubles Champions, while Michael Ingram was runner-up in the College Boys Singles Championship.

The Second IV - Mark Jessen, James Oxley, Adrian Kan and Jeff Chang – played well throughout the season in Division 1 to go through to beat GYC in the semi-final and lose to Friends in the preliminary final.

In Division 2, the Third and Fourth IVs competed valiantly despite a largely inexperienced squad. This year there were two mixed teams. Duncan Forbes and Luke Lamont teamed up with St Mary's and were runners-up, while the second team – Ian Pang, Jon Alomes and Ben Armstrong – joined with Collegiate. An extremely enjoyable and social season was experienced by all.

Year 10

The Year 10 team – Tom Chang, Pekko Mahakitsiri, Phil Morey and Panna Sethvarangkul – played consistently and showed an equal range of skills to reach the semi-finals.

Year 9

Year 9 fared well this year, reaching the finals. The team – Andrew Bennett, Michael Norris, Shamim Samedami, Chris Madden and Ryan McKercher – showed continual improvement through the season.

Year 8

Three teams contested their respective roster titles. One team was in Division 1 and two in Division 2. This year was very much a learning year and look forward to next year.

Year 7

There were two teams from Year 7. The Division One team tried hard and improved very much over the season but were knocked out in the semi-final round. The second team played very well all season to reach the final.

The Broken Racquet Trophy between staff and students was not competed for due to Mr Berndt's illness.

On behalf of all teams, I would like to thank the coaches, Ms Schafferius, Mr Sayers, Mr Starkey and teacher-in-charge Mr Berndt for their time and efforts.

Anthony Kelsall
Captain of Badminton

Basketball

Hutchins continued to maintain high standards of play and sportsmanship in first and third term. Eight teams competed in the School Basketball Association in first term and seven in third term. Their successes were many.

Open

In the College Division of the SBA two teams were entered in Term 1. The Year 12 team led by Captain of Basketball Sam Halliday, strong forward Sam Harvey and point guard Ben Taylor, improved over the season to be grand finalists against Rosny A.

The Year 11 squad was led by guards Grant Burdon and Alex Reid. Although not winning many games, the skills of Stephen Blakesley, Simon Hall and James Toppin improved and enabled the team to be competitive.

In the SATIS competition during Terms 2 and 3, lack of post-winter practice handicapped our efforts and we lost close early matches. The final wins against Claremont and Hobart were impressive and demonstrated our strengths.

Few of us will forget the leadership and inspiration provided by the rebounding (over 20 against Claremont) and scoring of Captain Sam Halliday and the periodic brilliant inside and outside shooting of Year 10's Aston Wills. The 3-point shooting of Alex Reid, playmaking and passing of Ben Taylor and strong offensive and defensive play under the basket of Sam Harvey enabled Hutchins to post a strong challenge for that elusive top position. Well done!

Year 10

Injury in Term 3 hurt Hutchins' chances to develop strong and cohesive basketball. The team entered twelve boys in the Southern High School Tournament and only seven competed in the round robin matches to post a competitive 1 win - 3 loss record.

In the SBA we had convincing wins against less experienced teams but were unable to post wins against the top teams in the competition. Consistent performances were seen from Jonathon Cook as point guard, Ben Jackson at small forward, Sam Muskett under the basket, and outside and inside work of First team member Aston Wills.

Year 9

Mr Toppin and Mr Warner report that seventeen boys played in two teams of equal ability in the year 9 basketball roster and enjoyed mixed success. Toby Mestitz's consistency at three-pointers, Isaac Bennett's all round skills, Edward Ashbolt's driving and tenacity and Callum Czyz's improvement were highlights of the season. All of the boys involved are to be congratulated for their hard work and commitment.

Year 8

Mr Turbett reports that twenty players tried out for the two teams this year. We were fortunate to have some very competitive and talented players who were able to play with passion in both the games and in training sessions. We made it to the finals in the Kingborough Southern Basketball Competition finishing in third place.

The season saw vast improvement from all players with particular mention going to Tyson Wills and Ashley Winter who were selected for the Kingborough All Stars Team. Robert Sim has demonstrated his leadership on the court as Captain, being able to play well in any position.

The stars made the big points and the majority of the rebounds, but it is the depth and the strength on the bench that made the season a success. Well done!

Year 7

Coach Dr Ludwig reports that after a slow start to the term, the Hutchins 7A team ended on a positive note, winning the last two games. The team combined well with positive play from guards Matt de Gouveia and Matt Hill and forwards Saleh Sultan and Sam Stone.

Coaches Sam Halliday, Ben Taylor and Josh Marsh and the 7B team had a good season with more wins than losses. New players in third term added strength to a solid offensive and defensive squad. Matt Wilson and Ross Schreuder displayed great talent as guards and Jarrod Brelis and Geoff Park as forwards.

Mike Fishburn

Real Tennis... get 'real'

Yes, this old sport is alive and well at the olde school. It has been played in Hobart since 1875 - almost as long as Hutchins has been operating. Previously called Royal Tennis for most of its history in Australia, and court tennis in the USA, 'jeu de paume' in France, and just tennis [to the purists] or real tennis to others in the UK, we now call it Real Tennis here. Not that we wish to demean lawn tennis, but this game long predates "lawners".

Boys Try...

In Terms 1 and 3 a small clique of interested boys from the Senior School have tried, and in many cases mastered, the basics of the game - some doing it for the second or third time throughout their senior years. Hopefully many will go on to play whilst at university or in later life.

World Champion...

The current champion, Robert Fahey, hails from Hobart and has been champ for the past seven years. This is a pretty good effort and in fact he is the only Australian to have won a tennis grand slam (Australian, US, British and French Opens in one year) since Rod Laver did it in 1969 in the other tennis. [Stop Press: he's just completed back-to-back grand slams, the first player ever to win more than one] Not bad in a competition that has been running since 1740.

Why not give it a go yourself? It is a fascinating game.

Water Polo

Front Row: Matthew Gardner, Danial Abdul-Rahman, Sam Halliday (Captain), Scott Wilson (Coach), Harry Pugsley (Vice-captain), James Seddon

The Water Polo season was one of mixed success with many highlights this year, but also some disappointing moments.

There were two Year 7/8 teams. Both teams were strong and did very well throughout the season. All boys developed their skills and enjoyed the season. New friendships were made and all boys displayed good sportsmanship.

The A team, coached by Harry Pugsley and Matt Gardner, made it to the semi-final, but were beaten by St Virgil's. Consistent performers for the A team included Fabian Trueman, Stephen Beer, Charles Gard and David Gardner.

The B team, coached by James Seddon and Sam Halliday, were a little more fortunate and went on to beat St Virgils in the grand final. Consistent performers for the B team included Jesse O'Hara, Nick Stebbins, Michael Bamford and Mark Fenton.

The 9/10 team was very strong this year, but struggled to rack up consistent wins. St Virgil's beat them in the Grand Final but the boys fought hard until the end. Consistent performers included Lewis Halliday, Jack Madden, Joe Pemberton, Tom Mills, John Dale Hové and David Peterson. Thanks must go to their coach Tony Cannell for his time and effort.

The Firsts also experienced defeat in the grand final at the hands of GYC, in an exciting encounter which went into overtime. Good performances for the season came from Danial Abdul-Rahman, Matt Gardner, Andrew Egan and Harry Pugsley. Thanks must go to Scott Wilson for coaching the team.

After all the tiring training sessions at the Collegiate pool and Clarence, and big game nights, the boys thrived in the challenging situations put before them. Every game was contested with the greatest tenacity and spirit. Bring on next year...

What a year!

State Independent Schools Hockey Premiers First and Second XIs, Southern All Schools hockey premiers in Open and Division 2, six teams in grand finals – all indicate a highly successful season enjoyed by Hutchins hockey teams.

The First XI team went through the season undefeated and proved to be one of the most accomplished Hutchins hockey teams of all time. They had a fantastic year, and enjoyed a trip to Melbourne, where they played five games in three days and won all five. Thanks go to Mr McLeod and Mr Addison for their coaching throughout the season and for organising a great trip. Congratulations go to two members of the Firsts, Alistair Addison and Ben Creese, for their selection in the state team.

The Second XI, coached by Geoffrey Inglis, was also a premiership winner, with some victories characterised by courageous performances against very tough opposition.

The Year 10 teams were coached by Paul Ancher and Stuart Hall. Their development of skills, teamwork and spirit led to a vast improvement in both teams' performances during the season, with the Hutchins 4 team playing off in the grand final.

The Year 9 team, coached by Andrew Short, also played off in the grand final after a highly successful season.

Promising youngsters!

With two of the three sides making grand finals, Middle School hockey looks strong. Hutchins 6 was guided by Fr John Goodwin with the First XI's Ben Taylor acting as Team Rep. After a strong season, they qualified for the grand final. Despite a great opening to the big match by the boys, the New Town team eventually pulled away to win a top game.

Both Hutchins 7 and 8 competed in Division 7, the former being a team comprised of less experienced boys from Years 7 and 8. Hutchins 7's main success was the significant development of the players over the season, thanks to the guidance of First XI boys Alasdair Grenness and Andrew Morrisby. Particularly pleasing was the participation of boys either new to the sport or returning to hockey after a season or two playing other sports. Hutchins 8 was always a premiership chance. First XI players Alistair Addison and Ben Creese provided the coaching expertise to a strong group comprised mainly of former Junior School boys. Team 8 demolished nearly all other sides during the roster, but their Friends counterparts proved too strong on grand final day.

A vote of thanks

In what has been a tremendous season the players acknowledge the work done by all the coaches and by the team reps who attended and umpired the games. Thanks go to the coaches and administrators of Hutchins hockey.

Swimming

2001 will go down as one of the most successful years for Swimming at Hutchins. The outstanding success of the swimming team at SATIS was unprecedented, winning all three possible shields by very large margins. The depth of the Hutchins team is extraordinary and this is demonstrated by our first places in five of the seven relay events. Individual performances in the pool were also strong. Sam Madden broke three records, Joe Pemberton broke one, and the Under 13 and Under 16 relay teams now hold the record for their events.

National Championships

Following this success George Croft, Hamish Hall, Michael Egan, Charles Gard and Nicholas Stebbins were selected in the Tasmanian Swimming Team, which travelled to Perth for the Australian Secondary Schools Swimming Championships. Hutchins had the largest representation on the Tasmanian team and the boys performed exceptionally well with all of them recording personal best times.

George Croft, Sam Madden, Joe Pemberton and Jack Madden have been selected in the State Development Squad for 2002. Joe Pemberton was also selected to participate in the AIS Swimming program. These are outstanding achievements by these boys.

Much of the strength of Hutchins Swimming lies in the dedication of the coach, Mr Morris. He has been appointed the Head Coach of the Tasmanian Development Squad for 2002 and also was a coach of the Tasmanian Secondary Schools' team in Perth. Thanks must go to Mrs Jill Abell who works behind the scenes administering the swimming program and helping out on pool deck. Congratulations to the whole Swimming team on such a successful year.

Soccer

1st XI

This was both a most successful yet frustrating season for us. We went through the season undefeated, including a good win in the state final against Launceston Church Grammar School. However, the season was very disjointed due to injuries and bad weather. The major ground for our SATIS fixtures is KGV in Glenorchy - the only suitable venue in the south with lights. Unfortunately, owing to the amount of use the ground gets during the season and the run of bad weather in the middle of the season, we lost more than one complete round.

The season saw many injuries to key players. After his best ever game for the team, Mark Playle was injured playing rugby for the School's First XV when he cracked his sternum. Rob Knight, one of the best playmakers in the team, injured ligaments in his knee playing in the under 23 competition. Will Kay also injured his knee whilst trying a spectacular overhead kick and we had to nurse him through to the state final where he scored the winning goal! There were other injuries and problems through the season, but it spoke well of the ability of the players in the team that we were undefeated.

Will McGregor had a stand out season as sweeper in his first year, winning the inaugural presentation of the Hume Moase Most Improved Player award, and Masaaki Kon won the Best and Fairest trophy. Ben Crosswell was outstanding in his ball control and needed two players to stop him every time he got the ball. Nick Meredith, Rob Knight and Andrew Deane were the playmakers and John Andrews, the team's vice-captain, was again a tower of strength at the back.

David Hoskins
Coach

2nd XI

The 2nd XI has had a rather interesting season. Great thanks go to our dedicated yet frustrated coach, Rowan Dix. An Old Boy himself, he was amazed by the somewhat shady turnout of prospective players. Training sessions were the best of fun although gathering only small crowds due to other commitments and injuries. Despite this, we had a fairly successful year.

We played three of the five teams in the competition owing to the number of games washed out and lost only to the powerful Guilford Young team. Unfortunately our games against this strong side have a tendency to fall away in the second half.

Lapses in concentration, and some decisions which went against us, meant we missed out on a berth in the state final. Our thanks go to Rowan, for his patience, and to those players able to train twice a week.

David Roberts
Captain

U16 Division One

This year saw a very determined team, eager to try and outdo its previous success. With Grant Hildyard again the coach, the team performed well throughout the season to remain undefeated. Great wins were recorded against the previous winners South Hobart. At the end of the season the team had won the title for the first time. This is also the first time that the school has won this division. The team is grateful to Grant for his coaching over the past four years.

Under 16B

After a disappointing season last year, a new and more determined under 16B soccer team stepped up to its best. Using the brains of our new coach, Mr Thompson, we started playing as a team. Injury-plagued, we still managed to show everyone our team had guts and determination. Jorge Burgess-Lowe's "magical" goals led us to victory on numerous occasions.

We did not allow other teams to get on top through the season and yet we rotated our goalkeeper each game with Andrew Dawson perhaps taking the lion's share. Our thanks go to Mr Thompson for all his efforts and to Mr Hoskins for his organisation.

Rob Abell

Under 15 Division One

The team once again had a very successful season, finishing second in the league to a very good team from Kingborough. Individual and team efforts resulted in some spectacular goals, passages of play and outstanding saves that ultimately led to successful outcomes.

The season saw us go through the highs and lows, including memorable wins against St Virgil's and South Hobart. Many thanks and appreciation must go to Mr Souza for coaching us for the third year with gusto and enthusiasm. We also recognize the efforts of Mr Hoskins who has taken us for a number of sessions through the season and Mr Lister who was once again our manager, as well as all those who helped us through the season.

Alex Menzie

Under 15B

The Under 15B team, again coached by Miles Thorold-Smith, had another successful season. It played in Division Two and finished in the top half of the league. The team is grateful to Miles for his drive and enthusiasm.

Under 14 Division One

With James McCulloch again coaching the Hobart Zebras teams looked to be the greatest danger at the start of the season, and this proved to be the case as they finished first and second in the division. Our third place was a good effort with Jeremy Hales outstanding up front, and Zac Bereznicki the pillar of the defence. The team played some excellent soccer and is grateful to James for all his hard work.

Under 14B

This year saw the team taken by Stefan Hattrell and Chris Watson, two University soccer team members, as part of the closer links between Hutchins and the University Soccer Club. The team had a mixed season, with a large squad who needed to be better organised at training. The season saw some fine performances with the team finishing mid-table at the end.

Under 13s

This year saw four teams at this level for the first time in the School's history. We were unable to have three teams in the one division and so ended up with one team in Division One, coached by Hume Moase; one team in Division Two coached by Andrew Deane and Rob Knight; and two equal teams in Division Four. Matt Irons coached the Black team, and Sam McMillan and Masaaki Kon coached the Magenta team. Despite the teams having limited reserves, and some boys playing two games in a day on occasions, the season was very successful.

Hume Moase's team won the Division One with Rhys Meredith and David Buxton outstanding in the forward line, and Rhys winning the leading goal scorer award. The team had outstanding talent in all areas and should be a major force in the future. We have lost Rhys next year as his family left to go to the mainland. This will force us to look for more avenues to goal - a major task for the team next year.

The team in Division Two played some great games and did well, particularly as it was playing against the best teams from other clubs and schools. Andrew and Rob did an excellent job with their coaching. The Black and Magenta teams had their fair share of success with the Magenta team losing the title in the last game of the season. Sam McMillan, who took the team for the majority of the season, did a great job and was well liked by the boys and parents.

I have been enormously impressed over the past two years with the coaching carried out by our senior students. Their rapport with the boys is excellent and the supportive way in which they approach their task is a credit to them. The school could not field the large number of teams without their help.

Years 7 - 10 tennis

Students in Years 7 - 10 who were not involved in the Open teams played an internal pennant in Term 1. There were two divisions, Division 1 consisting of Years 9 and 10 and Division 2 consisting of Years 7 and 8. The Division 1 winners were Team Newcombe, consisting of Jonathan Manning, Gareth Servant and Joseph Dyer. The Division 2 winners were Team Woodbridge, consisting of Blair Spaulding, Michael Bamford, Yaro Sakov and Ben Shadforth.

Peter Crofts
Director of Tennis

Firsts

The firsts team of William Priestly, Edward Bouchier, Nathan Jones, Damian Templar, Robert Easther and Matthew Lister was plagued with injuries and illness during the season but still managed to win all but one match during the southern roster. In the state final they were beaten by a very strong Scotch Oakburn team, 5 rubbers to 1. Matthew and Damien won their doubles to win the one rubber for Hutchins.

Seconds

The seconds won all of their matches during the season. The team changed throughout the year, with several players who began with the Seconds, ending up in the Firsts. However, the team that played in the state final - Anthony Kelsall, Hayden Farquhar, David Bennett and Hugh Miller - defeated Scotch Oakburn five rubbers to one.

Sailing

Hutchins has had another very successful year in sailing, beginning in Term 1 with schools teams racing on Wednesday afternoons at the Sandy Bay Sailing Club, where both Hutchins teams performed very well.

State Regattas

The first major schools regatta was held at Port Dalrymple Yacht Club on the Tamar River. Hutchins' first team consisted of Marcus Jones and Charles Cunningham (420), Stewart Wells (Laser), and Drew Latham and Adrian Clarke (420). The second team consisted of three Sabots, sailed by Josh, Nick and Blair. After the first day's racing in light winds the first team was situated second overall, but stronger winds on the second day suited us, enabling the team to win the regatta overall.

The next major regatta was the State Schools Teams Racing Championships held at the Lindisfame Sailing Club. This was the selection series for the right to represent Tasmania at the national championships. In very light conditions the Hutchins first team progressed to the finals where they managed to win a hard fought final against The Friends' School.

But what is teams sailing? Teams sailing is a little bit like three-on-three basketball, orienteering and chess. The team of three is placed on a small box-shape course which takes about twenty minutes to complete. The aim is to position your boat in whatever way possible to benefit your team and annoy your opponents as greatly as you can. A team wins by having the least points deducted. Points are deducted from a team according to the position of their boat when they cross the line.

National Championships

In the last week of the third term holidays Hutchins competed against all states in the Secondary Schools Teams Racing Championship held at the Sandy Bay Sailing Club. The event was held in varying conditions with stronger winds early in the regatta giving way to lighter winds in the last few days. By the end of the first day's racing Hutchins held a narrow lead over the Queensland team, a position held for the remainder of the round robins. The final day of the championships was set for the finals between the Queensland and Hutchins teams. Racing was postponed for a while due to a lack of wind, but when sailing started the two teams sailed off in a five race final series, with the first two races going to the Queensland team. The Hutchins team then re-grouped and managed to win the third race. Every race from here on was a must win. In a very close fourth race the Queensland team managed to hold on to win, giving them back-to-back championship wins and the right to represent Australia at the Interdominion to be held in New Zealand.

This year's team was the most successful ever. Thanks are due to Mr McCammon for helping to manage and organise the team.

Surfing

The Surfing team has had a rapid increase in the numbers of surfers this year we now have three teams. There is a First-Team consisting of experienced surfers who compete in the Tasmanian State Round Competitions; a body boarding team competing in the State Body Board Competitions; and a learner team who compete in the second division at the Tasmanian School Surfing Championships.

The highlights this year have been the success of James Eaves, our youngest but highest-ranked surfer. James is only in Year 7 but is already a veteran competitor, and he won his division at the school championships. Another highlight was the East Coast Junior Challenge in Scamander – a great experience for Mike Norris, Martin Mulcahy, Scott Lawless, Jack Viney and James Eaves.

The body boarders also had a great season. David Roberts and Fraser Johnston achieved excellent results at the school championships with Fraser reaching the heavily-contested final. The younger crew, consisting of Fergus Foulds, Louis Balcombe, Jeremy Parker and Charles Cunningham, have eagerly pursued the State Round Competitions. These boys will carry on a fine Hutchins tradition in body boarding.

Next year should be one of our best ever with a committed crew of up and coming champions. We also have Jason Zawadzski, an old boy and state representative surfer, joining our coaching staff. The banks at Clifton are looking good for Thursday night training sessions and we plan a few trips before the competition season gets going. Our next mission will be the West Coast Classic in March 2002.

First XI

The First XI had a great start to the season with an outstanding tour of Victoria, winning all of the eight games played. The most notable victory was the Boot Game, where Captain Charles Schreuder scored an outstanding 95, winning the David Brammall Medal.

The domestic season started strongly too, winning games against St Pat's, Launceston Grammar, and Scotch Oakburn to have us well placed going into the Guilford Young game. This was our only batting blemish for the whole season and came back to haunt us. Subsequently we defeated Friends twice before having washouts against Friends and Guilford, which cost us any chance of competing in the state final. We won the last game against Guilford, but it was in vain. We had won 13 of 14 games played, but missed out on the final.

Alex Tozer won the bowling average, and Andrew Jackett took out the batting. Charles Schreuder won the Alan Richardson award for season's best and fairest. We must thank the great efforts of Mr Irons (our coach), and Mr Denis Bishop for coming on the Victorian tour and supporting us all season.

Second XI

The Magoos had a successful season, proceeding undefeated to the final under the leadership of the charismatic Andrew Morrisby. Highlight performances in the lead-up matches were:

- v St Patricks: Cameron Burgess (59) and Damen Holmes (4-5)
- v Scotch Oakburn: John Cooper (53) and Andrew Morrisby (82)
- v Guilford Young (match 1): Will McGregor (60 ret)
- v Guilford (match 2): Nick McIvor (50).

In the final against St Pat's, we batted first and scored a creditable 211 from our allotted 45 overs. The highlight was a 120 run partnership between John Cooper (85) and Nick McIvor (56). Unfortunately, our bowlers could not break a 150 run partnership and they passed us with just a few wickets down.

Junior Cricket

We enjoyed another successful season, with premierships by the Year 10 Lions and Year 8/9 Lions. The Year 9/10 Lions and Year 7/8 Lions finished second in their divisions.

Players who received merits for their performances during the season were:

Yr 10: Isuru Amarasena, Paul Ancher, Michael Brothers, John Cooper, Matthew Drury, Stuart Hall, Andrew Jackett, Will McGregor and Rowan Oliver

Yr 9/10: Lewis Halliday, Mathew Bax and Vaughan Allen

Yr 8/9: Tom Coyle, Ronan Fenton, Richard Hazell, James Jubb, Matthew Lister and Chris Quinn

Yr 7/8: Chris Bury, Scott Nichols, Robert Sim and Ashley Winter

Yr 6/7: Mark Fenton and Zach Johnson.

Athletics

The 2001 track season saw the athletics team successful at the Southern Carnival. The team picked up the Southern Boys Aggregate and Southern Senior Boys trophies, but unfortunately couldn't repeat the performance the following week at the State Carnival due to two relay disqualifications.

Promising talent for the future came from middle distance runners Martin Mulcahy, Jack Madden and Richard Burbury who dominated their events, while sprinters Ian Cayzer, Dane Johnson, Ben Creese, and Andrew Dawson muscled their way through, showing the depth of the mighty Hutchins squad. Field event athletes who performed well were Stuart Hall, David Powell and Michael Andrews.

The open squad competed well with promising results for next year coming from Matthew Drury, Jonathan Haynes, and Tom Stove. Vice captains Peter Ayliffe and John Andrews, Sam Halliday, and captain Alex Piekutowski finished their final year on a high.

Thanks to Mr McNamara and Mr Conacher for their help, advice and organization. Our thanks are also extended to outside coaches Max Cherry, Willy Priestley, Nick Gozzi, Marcus Cleary and Michael Gozzi.

Table Tennis

In Term 1 three teams entered the Adult Open roster. The most successful team, just missing the semi-finals in Div 3, was Hutchins 1 (Brandon Servant, Mark Jessen and Michael Ingram). Tim Carolan, playing in Div 2, had a most successful season winning over 90% of his games.

Eight teams entered the Schools competition. The most successful team was Hutchins 8 (Grant Ashberry, Sam Crosswell, Lachie Hall and Matt Morris), who won the finals in Div 4. The best individual players were:
Div 1 Andrew Carolan 67%
Div 2 David Wicks 87%
Div 3 Michael Chapman 94%
Div 4 Lachie Hall 94% & Sam Crosswell 93%

Tim Carolan and Yaro Sakov were selected in the State U14 and U16 teams. They also played together in the Australian Term 3 one team (Mark Jessen, Andrew Carolan and Yaro Sakov) played Div 2 of the adult roster and reached the semi-finals. Tim Carolan played in Div 1, winning over 50%.

Nine teams play in the schools roster. At the end of Round 6 best performed teams were Hutchins 2 (Tim Jones, David Ward, Robert Beadle); Hutchins 5 (Shavi Wirasinha, Andrew Hutchens, Olivier Graham) and Hutchins 9 (Peter Mulcahy, Damian Templar, Richard Bowman).

Best performed individuals were: Michael and Martin Li, Peter Mulcahy, Damian Templar 100%; Andrew Hutchens 94%; David Ward 93%; Lachie Hall 92%; Sam Crosswell and George Gu 91%.

Orienteering team at Dysart

Orienteering this year involved training sessions as an adjunct to the Wednesday twilight sessions, with boys learning basic map reading and attack skills from Wendy and Ross Andrewartha. The sport continues to challenge individuals, requiring both high levels of physical fitness and a sharp mind. The success of many boys in this sport was exemplified by the fact two boys were chosen to represent the state at the National Championships in Canberra. Congratulations Josh Tomlin and Lee Andrewartha, we are very proud of your achievements.

The Southern Championships, held at Knocklofty on a new map proved to be a tough course for several boys. Josh Tomlin and Mat Jackman came second and third in the Mens Open A course, with Lee Andrewartha placed third in the Mens 16A. Ryan Foster and Chris Hocking were both strong contenders in their divisions.

Buoyed by this success, the boys went on to compete in the State Championships at Dysart, with notable performances by Josh Tomlin and Lee Andrewartha. Once again, many thanks are due to Mathew Jackman (Captain of Orienteering) and Ben Andrewartha for their leadership and help in course planning.
